F.D.R. Fights Court Compromise, Despite Wagner Ruling

CAMPAIGN ON WAGE, HOUR LAWS NEXT

Split Decision in Four Cases Is Studied By President

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Campaigns to enact wage and hour standards and to outlaw sit-down strikes appeared imminent today in the turbulent congressional aftermath to the supreme court's validation of the Wagner labor relations act.

Conflicting predictions of the effect of the historic decisions on the judiciary reorganization bill also sustained suspense at the capitol.

President Roosevelt, it was widely predicted, will re-survey the legislative situation in the light of the five-to-four decisions. His only comment was that yesterday was "a pretty good day for all of us."

"No Compromise" An informed administration official who declined to be quoted by name said Mr. Roosevelt would go ahead with his judiciary reorganization program.

This official added there was no indication of a compromise on the court plan.

The reference was made to the split decisions. The official said this was no guarantee that future administration proposals, such as minimum wages and maximum hours, would be upheld in the light of the broadened interpretation of the interstate commerce clause. Speaker Bankhead told reporters he would not be surprised to see soon a presidential message on minimum wages, maximum hours and working conditions.

Congress May Act Committees in congress may take up the question even before the message is received. Administration officials said recently they were having difficulty drafting such legislation because of the narrow scope given the interstate commerce clause of the constitution.

Some of Mr. Roosevelt's supporters said the Wagner decisions, however, had broadened federal power over interstate commerce, and in the words of Senator Thomas (D., Utah), "removed a woman's land of uncertainty." His "no man's land" reference (See WAGNER ACT, Page 2)

A. F. L. PLANS BIG UNION DRIVE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor announced today the federation's executive council will meet next Monday to lay the foundation for an intensive membership campaign among the craft unions.

Green said the supreme court's decisions yesterday on the Wagner labor act opened the way for an aggressive drive for new members. On other matters, Green said he was uncertain about what action the council may take on the cases of 10 international union affiliates of the federation suspended last year because of their support of John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization.

F.D.R. May Defer Relief Message

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt may defer until early next week his recommendation to congress for relief appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

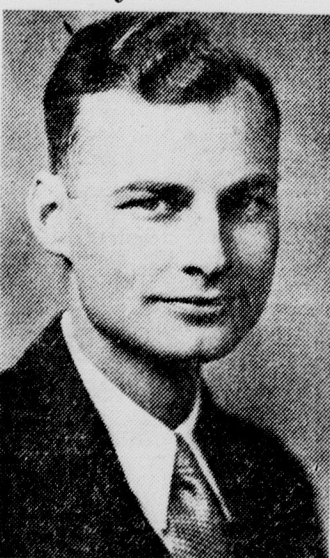

The message had been scheduled to go to the capitol tomorrow, but White House officials said today the budget bureau and the treasury had been unable to work out as yet needed figures on receipts and expenditures.

One Man, 3 Goats and a Fire

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The trio of goats that Kris Krivopesh, 50, kept outside his bedroom were a great handicap when his home caught fire today.

First, Krivopesh was very late in smelling the smoke, goats being what they are, capable of obscuring such delicate odors as burning wood.

Rotary President

John McCoy, assistant director of Santa Ana Junior college, who was elected today to succeed Guy Gilbert as president of the Santa Ana Rotary club.

M'COY HEADS ROTARIANS

Assistant Director at Jaycee Will Pilot Club for Year

John McCoy, assistant director and journalism head at Santa Ana Junior college, was named today as the Santa Ana Rotary club's new president.

McCoy succeeds Guy Gilbert, district insurance company manager, who has presided over club sessions for the past year.

The new president has been a member of the club since 1936. He lives at 1207 Louise street, where he and Mrs. McCoy have just built a new home.

McCoy began his newspaper career here with The Register. Later he attended the school of journalism at U.S.C., where he graduated. He also was connected with the Orange Daily News.

NAZIS ANSWER PAPAL CHARGE

BERLIN, (AP)—The German government ordered delivery today of its reply to Pope Pius' encyclical letter charging breach of the church-state concordat, but diplomatic sources predicted it would not abrogate the concordat.

The reich's views on the holy father's encyclical message, delivered to German bishops March 21, will be presented in Vatican City by Dr. Dietrich von Bergen, German ambassador to the Holy See. The pontiff charged the concordat, which guaranteed division of spiritual and temporal authority between the church and the state, had been "rendered intrinsically valueless," placing direct blame on the Nazi regime.

12 PLANES GET TO HONOLULU

HONOLULU, (AP)—Twelve great United States navy planes bearing 78 officers and men arrived here at 12:15 p. m. today from San Diego, Calif., after an over water flight of 2553 miles.

The seaplanes took off from San Diego bay at 2:50 p. m. yesterday and made the long flight in 21 hours, 25 minutes.

Under command of Lieut. Commander L. A. Pope the squadron flew over six surface boats stationed along the course, and reported all well throughout the day and night.

Goodyear Mill Workers Strike

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—More than 600 fabric workers went on strike in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company mill today, six weeks after the mill reopened following a year's inactivity.

The mill management and a committee representing the workers scheduled a conference for this afternoon for negotiations of demands for a "reasonable pay increase and shorter hours." The workers are not organized.

Second, the goats wrecked havoc with the firemen.

"Every time a fireman would stop to untangle a hose line, some goat would push him over," said Capt. V. T. Keyes of the fire squad. He also complained about the aroma of the goats.

Krivopesh and the goats were rescued. The house burned down.

LABOR FIGHTS BRITISH BAN ON SHIPS

Condemn Baldwin Plan To End Protection In Spanish Water

LONDON, (AP)—British labor leaders moved today to force the government to lift the insurgent Spanish blockade of the port of Bilbao and convey supply ships to the beleaguered Basque capital.

Major Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, declared he would ask for a vote of censure against the cabinet of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in the house of commons tomorrow.

Attlee's motion, laid against the compromise position announced by Baldwin yesterday, will demand the government tolerate no interference with British shipping.

Albert V. Alexander, former first lord of the admiralty, joined Attlee in the move to condemn the policy of withdrawing protection from British shipping within the territorial three-mile limit.

Baldwin issued a general warning to all British ship owners not to allow their vessels to approach the Basque coast for the time being, and the admiralty pointed a similar warning to the food ships driven into St. Jean de Luz by insurgent warships.

REBELS TIGHTEN RING AROUND BILBAO

By the Associated Press

Spanish insurgents tightened rings of steel around the port of Bilbao, Basque capital in northern Spain, today, trying to force surrender by "starving out" government troops and civilians.

The city's hungry population has risen above the 300,000 mark with the influx of refugees.

The Basque government, admitting the food situation was "grave," offered protection of government ships within 10 miles of the coast to any vessel that would run the insurgent blockade and bring in food.

Insurgents solidified their blockade of Bilbao after Great Britain refused protection to her merchantmen within Spanish waters. Bilbao's defenders, however, declared they could withstand a siege of months.

SEEK MANIAC IN L. A. MURDERS

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Police searched today for a fugitive from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Fairview, Pa., as a suspect in the recent brickbat slayings here. The search which started last night, resulted in the arrest of another man for questioning.

Police received a letter from Detective Chief H. E. McElroy of Harrisburg, Pa., saying the escaped maniac was believed to be in Los Angeles. On information he supplied, officers went to an address near the hotel where Mrs. Edna B. Worden and her 12-year-old daughter were slain with a brick two Sundays ago.

The officers did not find the man they sought, but arrested a 43-year-old man at the same address. They said they found in his room newspaper clippings about the Worden case.

Bandits Grab $2000 Payroll

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Two gunmen held up a payroll clerk today on busy Hollywood boulevard and escaped with $2,000.

The clerk, Fred Miller, was getting into his automobile after drawing the money from the Citizens' National bank branch at Hollywood and Cahuenga when the men, revolvers drawn, accosted him and directed him drive on "as if nothing was happening."

Then they stopped, took the money and told Miller to step out of the car.

Thurston Dead a Year—and Glass Remains Unbroken

NEW YORK, (AP)—An image of old Rameses II, dead these thousand years, still hung in a glass case here today—Thurston, the great magician, had not come back from beyond.

"Just a year ago today, at 31 minutes past midnight, Howard Thurston died," said Joseph Dunninger, New York mentalist and spirit-exposer. "Before he died, he left me the glass-encased figure of Rameses II, and he told me if he could come back from the dead, he would break the glass."

As head of the Universal Society for Physical Research, Dunninger the "spook-hunter" has a $10,000 standing offer for any alleged spirit manifestation he cannot expose or duplicate by trickery.

FORD STRIKE PLAN ENDS

Union Chief Says It's Not Necessary After Wagner Act Ruling

DETROIT, (AP)—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, predicted today that the federal government would "force" the Ford Motor Company to deal with the union under the Wagner labor relations act.

Jubilant over the supreme court decision upholding the Wagner act, he declared that "a strike to force Henry Ford to recognize the U. A. W. A. will not be necessary now."

Union officials announced that an intensive membership campaign among Ford workers would be begun immediately. One method of operation, Ed Hall, second vice president, said, will be to broadcast appeals to Ford employees from an airplane flying over the Ford Rouge plant.

Hall recently made such a broadcast through powerful amplifiers from an airplane soaring over Detroit.

No comment was forthcoming from the Ford company or from Henry Ford, who announced recently from his winter home at Ways, Ga., that his company would inaugurate the highest wages in history "as soon as this labor mess is over."

He made that statement shortly after reports were published that the Ford company planned a $10 minimum wage, far in excess of union demands, to combat the U. A. W. A. membership drive.

START WORK ON FLOOD PLAN

Definite plans for cooperative work by Orange and Los Angeles counties for flood control on Coyote creek will be drawn up by the first of next week. Supervisor Harry D. Riley announced today.

Yesterday Riley, Supervisor H. C. Legg of Los Angeles county, and the flood control engineers of both counties inspected the creek. Riley said probable cost would be $50,000, to be divided equally between the counties.

Arson Trial to Be Resumed Today

Trial of Edward R. Tabor on charges of arson was postponed this morning because Milburn Harvey, one of the defense attorneys, was called to Los Angeles to attend a hearing.

Trial was to be resumed this afternoon before a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court.

SANTA ANA IS UNDECIDED ON STAND

Survey Reveals Eleven Districts to Boost Teachers' Pay

Pay increases for teachers in 11 school districts of Orange county loomed today, but the Santa Ana school district was in a group of five which are yet undecided on the matter.

These facts were revealed last night in a report compiled by Auditor Harold Yost of the school board. Yost sent out 112 questionnaires to California schools, and received 99 replies.

The report said: "In view of rapidly rising prices of commonly used goods and services, this survey should prove interesting. The maximum and minimum figures are, in themselves, only meaningless statements of fact, but a comparison of one city with another together with a scrutiny of present and projected increases should be of considerable assistance to many school districts."

BABES CAST ON STREET TO DIE

CHUNGKING, Szechwan Province, China. (AP)—Parents in towns and villages of central and eastern Szechwan are tossing their children into the streets to die because of inability to feed them, reports reaching here today said.

The tragic scenes have resulted from the drought and famine said Szechwan are tossing their children into the streets to die because of inability to feed them, reports reaching here today said.

The United Church of Canada mission, with headquarters at Toronto, has organized a relief program through its 10 stations in the province, with funds raised in Canada.

BEAN LAND SOLD FOR $20,000

Sale of 20 acres of rich bean land at a reported price of $20,000 was reported today by Louis Mall, who has owned the property for the past 50 years.

Victor DeSutter, well-known rancher, is the purchaser, and will leave the land in beans, he said today. The acreage is located on the south side of Delhi road, half a mile east of Main street, and is near the new sugar factory.

Girl Asks $5000 In Accident Suit

Charging that his 2½-year-old daughter, Arvonne, was struck down and seriously injured by a car driven by Mrs. O. K. Fly at Laguna Beach Jan. 23, Harland G. Cox today started a $5000 damage suit in the daughter's behalf.

The girl suffered a fractured thigh and a fracture of the left side of the skull, according to the complaint prepared by Joseph H. Frenette, Laguna Beach attorney.

Cleaners Strike Ties Up Plants

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Union cleaners and dyers, striking for 10 per cent pay increases, kept at least half the wholesale and retail plants in Los Angeles closed today.

Skyscraper Lad in Gotham

FOOD PRICES 22 SAVED IN TAKE JUMP

Added Boost Expected As Rise of 12 Per Cent Reported

The price of picnics these springy week-ends is going up. Every meal, in fact, is more of a strain on the pocketbook than breakfast, lunch, and dinner last year at this time—about 12 per cent more.

Food prices, already increased during the past several months, are on their way still higher, according to grocery experts. Your food dollar today has to be $1.12 more than it was last year to buy the same groceries, meats, and vegetables. By August it may have to be $1.25.

Labor difficulties, cost of production and transportation, and a shortage of workers will contribute to boosting things even farther, according to B. R. Manker, manager of Smart and Final company.

"There hasn't been much of an increase in the last couple of weeks," Manker said, "but we expect to see prices keep on rising."

"A shortage of labor in harvesting and preparing food for the market is going to cause higher prices, because the farmers will be paying their laborers more this summer than they did last year. One of the canneries, for instance, has just said it is having difficulty finding workers, because so many of them are staying in the cities and working for WPA."

Town Has New Way To Curb Drunks

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP)—A list of 11 habitual drunks was posted in Woodland liquor stores today by Police Chief Roy Hillhouse. The chief said sale of liquor to a habitual drunkard constitutes a misdemeanor and that he would arrest dealers violating the law.

"Roadstand patron buys couple dozen oranges and gets assurance from the proprietor that the fruit, raised outside of this county, however, was not frozen. Here's one for Ripley. It's just another proof that the 'unusual' does happen in California."

GET ONE HALF CENT RAISE PER BOX

Packing House Chiefs Make Decision at Conference

Citrus pickers will get a boost in earnings this season.

The Journal learned today from managers of packing houses that a majority of the associations will pay 6 and 6½ cents a box for picking this year. Most of them will pay the higher rate, which is an increase of ½ cent over last season.

At a meeting of the packing house managers it was agreed orally that the general price would be 6½ cents, The Journal learned. While many boards of directors of packing houses have not met yet to establish the picking price officially, it was said there will be little difference in the prices offered pickers by the various houses.

Last year most of the packing houses paid 5½ cents a box with ½ cent box bonus if the pickers stayed throughout the season. It is expected that no bonus will be paid this year.

Manager E. J. Smale of the Garden Grove Mutual association house, said today his directors have set the price for this year at 6 cents. He said prices for picking might vary some because of the fact that some packing houses use larger field boxes than others. The Garden Grove house paid 5½ cents last year.

Picking conditions vary in different parts of the county. The pickers are able to earn more in (See WAGES RAISED, Page 2)

WEAPONS ENTER MURDER TRIAL

A revolver, a pistol and a pair of trousers nicked by a bullet today became people's exhibits against Concepcion Veyra, Star under Mexican, in his superior court trial on charges of the serene murder of Marcus J. Reza Feb. 20.

The pistol, a heavy .45 automatic, was taken from Veyra at the time of his arrest, Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart testified. The Mexican, the revolver, was found on the body of his ascertained victim, Reza.

Joe Reza, brother of the victim, introduced the trousers, which he said Reza was wearing at the time of the incident.

Reza said Veyra started shooting as the Reza brothers and others were serenading a neighbor. Jurors selected yesterday to try the case were Helen Smith, Charles Barnett, Zola Jane Maag, Fred Fuller, Harry Ray, Gwendolyn Thompson, Adam Shearer, Henry S. Campbell, Marie M. Gorman, W. F. Feldner, Katherine Selover and Arthur F. Dyckman.

MOONEY'S LAST FIGHT BEGUN

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Counsel for Thomas J. Mooney, convicted 1916 Preparedness day bomber, phrased new supreme court arguments today in seeking freedom for the greying prisoner, described as the victim of anti-labor forces "in a day long before the Wagner act was even conceived."

Arguments in what may be Mooney's last California attempt for vindication were scheduled to resume at 2 p. m. where Attorney George Davis left off yesterday in appealing for a writ of habeas corpus.

Court observers predicted a week would be consumed before Davis is through and the state, represented by Assistant Attorney General William Cleary, closes its arguments against granting the writ.

An adverse decision will send the case to the United States supreme court, Mooney's attorneys have declared.

Anaheim school district apparently will pay three and one-half per cent interest on its $195,000 bond issued, it developed today when the board of supervisors opened bids.

Seven bids were received, all but two calling for three and one-half per cent interest.

Redfield Royce & Co. asked three and three-quarters per cent but offered in return a premium of $2026. Anglo-California National bank asked 5 per cent on part of the bonds and three and one-half on the remainder. The other bidders, all at three and one-half per cent, and the premiums offered, were: Bank of America, $265; William R. Staats, $268; Security First National, $359; R. H. Moulton, $180. Blythe and Dean Witter, $88.

SUGGEST T. B. TESTS FOR TEACHERS

School Board Expected To Act on Matter By May 15

Members of the Santa Ana board of education today were considering a proposal that teachers be required to take tests for tuberculosis before being given contracts. The matter was broached at a meeting of the board last night by Dr. Margaret Baker, board member, who said it was especially important that teachers in charge of the younger children be free of the danger of communicating tuberculosis to the children.

It was indicated that the board may take action on the matter before May 15, by which time teachers must be re-elected or notified of their rejection.

Physician Available

Supt. F. A. Henderson indicated that he believes such a request for examination would be a reasonable requirement for the board of education to make. It was suggested that the services of the school physician could be made available for the purpose of the suggested examinations.

The discussion followed submission of a report on sick leave rules and substitute's pay made by Auditor Harold Yost of the city school system. The report was in the form of a summary of 96 replies to a questionnaire sent to 112 school districts of California.

The report showed that Santa Ana allows teachers 10 days sick leave each year on full pay. The sick leave is not allowed to accumulate from year to year. Substitutes are paid $5.40 a day for the first 10 consecutive days and then $8.10 thereafter in the junior college and high school, and $4.50 for 10 consecutive days and then $6.50 a day thereafter in the elementary schools.

Change Suggested

Yost suggested that some change in the Santa Ana system is desirable. He suggested that the sick leave might be reduced to five or six days a year, and then allowed to accumulate for two or three years.

Sick leave allowed in other districts which replied to the questionnaire ranged from no days to two weeks, with varying rules and amounts of pay.

Superintendent Henderson said the average sick leave per teacher in the local system is two days a school year.

DAIRY STRIKE IS PEACEFUL

With six milkers out on strike for higher pay, shorter working hours, and better living conditions, operations continued peacefully today at the McComie dairy at Los Alamitos.

Warned by sheriff's officers Sunday that a county ordinance prohibits picketing, the strikers remained out of sight and contented themselves with posting handbills around the dairy. They are organized under the John L. Lewis Committee for Industrial Organization in the Dairy Workers guild.

Only violence in the strike so far was the beating of two strike-breakers by five men in an automobile early Sunday. The strike-breakers with head abrasions, were treated at the Artesia hospital.

Posters near the dairy today, put up by the strikers, assert the men have been worked 15 and 14 hours a day with only one day off a month. They claimed living conditions as "the worst in the west," and said the strikers wanted $90 a month with one day off a week.

Jaysee Secretary Named Tomorrow

Election of secretary of the Associated Students at Santa Ana Junior college will be held tomorrow. Three women students are in the field for the office.

Joise Walker, Marian Baxter and Aileen Miller are the three candidates. The person who will hold office the next semester. Tomorrow election was made the withdrawal of Pierce, former secret college. Finals will be held today.

Ebell Economics Group to Meet

Second household economics section of Ebell is inviting the public to attend its program tomorrow in the Peacock room of the clubhouse, at which time the group will present Miss Bess Meals, home economist, as speaker. Miss Meals, who conducts home economy programs over Radio KFI, will present menus and recipes in her talk and will demonstrate the use of electric time-saving devices.

Townsend Clubs

All persons interested in the Townsend movement are cordially invited to attend any of the club sessions, particularly those of the clubs in our neighborhoods. Members are also urged to turn out regularly.

Townsend club No. 2 members were shocked to read in The Journal last evening of the serious burns suffered by Mrs. J. C. Graves, one of its members, and her daughter Mrs. Betty Costello.

The accident occurred as a result of an attempt at cleaning clothes with gasoline within doors. Mrs. Graves is 63 and was burned very severely. It is doubtful if she can survive. The daughter is also seriously burned but will doubtless recover. Mrs. Graves has been especially active in Townsend club work and has many friends both in her own and other clubs who still hope she may recover. Townsendites heed the warning of Fire Chief John Luxemburger. Do not clean clothes with gasoline. Use cleaning solvent and use it out of doors.

The administration board for Townsend halls in Santa Ana met Saturday evening in Townsend hall on West Fourth and formulated more complete plans for managing the places. Two new members from Santa Ana club No. 10 were added to the board. They were O. F. Shriver, 201 West Tenth street, and R. E. Marks of 820 East Fourth street. All the Santa Ana clubs are now represented on the board except club No. 12. Come on Club 12 and send two representatives with power to act to the board's next meeting, which will be held at 7:30, April 24th, in the Townsend theatre at 218 East Fourth street.

Rev. George Wixom of San Bernardino was the speaker who addressed Orange club No. 1 in its meeting last night. The meeting was presided over by J. A. Green, president. Wixom is reported to have brought a rousing message, "The always does." He accompanied Rev. S. L. Wingert from San Bernardino, who was the speaker at the Garden Grove club meeting, also held last evening. The Rev. Mr. Wingert was in Santa Ana Sunday afternoon addressed the club meeting in the 218 East Fourth street Townsend meeting place. The preachers who expound the gospel of salvation are also talking economics these days. That is the Townsend ones here.

District Manager J. H. Walsh was the speaker who substituted for Roy Webb in the Yorba Linda meeting last night, which was held in the grammar school building. Webb was called into service with Dr. Townsend earlier than was expected, with the above result.

Fullerton club No. 1, which meets every Monday evening in the Ebell club building, had A. M. Mapes of Santa Ana as its speaker last evening. Mrs. W. H. Everett of 443 East Amerigo is president of this club and is also a subscriber to The Journal.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, J. W. Brinton and Roy Webb left early yesterday morning for speaking engagements in the northern part of the state. Here's some good news for the Nineteenth district Townsendites: Dr. Townsend will come back south before leaving the state and make another Townsend address to a mass meeting being arranged for Friday April 23rd in San Bernardino. The place of meeting will be arranged by District Manager J. H. Walsh, who went to San Bernardino today for that purpose. Later this column will give complete particulars.

L. C. Carlisle, 912 Orange avenue, former president of Santa Ana club No. 7, became a subscriber to The Journal today. Carlisle is now employed as janitor in the annex to the courthouse and his hours prevent his good attendance at the Townsend meetings, except very infrequently, but his heart still beats with fervor for the Townsend plan interests.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates:
F. E. McCARTER, 203½ West 1st street, Santa Ana.
A. W. RIMEL, 931 South Ross street, Santa Ana.
MRS. JOE DANGER, Grand central apartments, Santa Ana.

Ship Speeds to Disabled Vessel

COLON, C. Z. (AP)—The mine sweeper, Teal was speeding today to the aid of the navy supply ship Vega, disabled by engine trouble and lying off the southern Mexican coast in the Gulf of Tehuantepec.

The Teal will tow the 11,450-ton Vega to Balboa for repairs. She was not expected to reach the supply ship until Friday or Saturday, navy authorities said.

EX-KIWANIS OFFICIAL DIES

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Walter R. Weiser, 67, former treasurer and trustee of Kiwanis International, died today of heart disease.

PERCY RICE JAILED

Percy Rice, 54, Tustin inventor, was rebooked at the county jail today to answer a bench warrant from Tustin justice court, after completing a sentence on a drunk charge.

TO MAKE FRUIT THEFT FELONY

Assemblyman Clyde Watson's bill to strengthen grand theft charges for stealing of avocados or citrus fruit had an assembly vote today, although the fight was not yet finished.

Assemblyman Voigt, opponent of the measure to make stealing of fruit worth more than $50 a grand theft offense, gave notice he would move to reconsider a roll call vote, which was 44 to 26. The grand theft clause formerly placed the limitation at $200. Stealing of fruit of less than that value was petty theft.

Proponents of the bill urged the assemblymen to "allow the farmers in the citrus belt to sleep in their houses at night and not in their orchards."

Bethel Tabernacle Pastors Named
Appointment of the Rev. and Mrs. Floyd J. Wiley as co-pastors of Bethel Tabernacle of Santa Ana was announced today, coincident with the departure of the Rev. W. D. and the Rev. Emma McLain for an extended eastern tour. They will hold nightly meetings this week at the church.

The Wileys, who will make their home here permanently, are well-known in the evangelistic world for both their preaching and their song services.

For several years they devoted themselves in the East to men of the underworld, both in city slums and behind prison bars, where they drew upon their wide experience to conduct revival meetings here.

Rebekahs to Give Carnival, Bazar

Torosa Rebekahs are inviting the public to attend a carnival and bazar tomorrow evening in the banquet room of the I. O. O. F. hall, to which they will adjourn after a brief lodge session.

Doors will be open at 8 o'clock, and everyone is invited to come and see the many articles which will be on sale at the booths.

POLICE REPORTS

R. M. Griego, 1021 Fruit street, told police a license plate and guitar were stolen from his car Sunday while it was parked in Compton.

Three-year-old Billy Bear, tired of waiting for his mother while she bought groceries, started on an expedition yesterday. Getting out of the car, he toddled as far as Fourth and Main streets, where Officer W. H. Prichard found him and brought him to the station. His mother, Mrs. Howard Bear, came for him.

Assistant Chief Harry Fink was searching today for a man who passed a $24.50 fictitious check at the Alpha Beta Food market, 318 West Fourth street, last week. The check, which came back marked no account, was signed with the name of "F. E. Browning" and made out to "R. E. Carlson, route 2, box 176."

LOSSES $40,000 SUIT

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Bert Hall, World war aviator, lost his $40,000 suit yesterday against the Douglas Aircraft corporation for commissions he alleged were due in connection with the sale of 20 Douglas planes to the Chinese Nationalist government in 1931.

Meteorologist to Talk at Jaysee

Students at Santa Ana Junior college will attend a talk by Sol Koloma, United States government meteorologist, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in college hall. The public is invited.

Koloma is now in this country to advise Amelia Earhart on landing conditions of the Pacific islands on her contemplated world flight.

Koloma will discuss advantages of airbases for transpacific transports tomorrow. He will answer questions on his work. At present Koloma is residing at Newport beach.

Rough Plaster Basis of Lawsuit

The difference between smooth waterproof plaster and "rough" plaster is about $200, Robert J. Graham today charged in a complaint on file in Santa Ana justice court.

He alleges that H. F. Garland, defendant, was engaged to plaster the inside of a house owned by Graham at 1206 Louise street, last November. Garland, the complaint states, although direct to create a smooth, waterproof finish, did what is called "rough plaster" job. R. M. Crookshank filed the complaint as attorney for the plaintiff.

CLAYTON RITES ON THURSDAY

Funeral services for Orlando Herschel Clayton, who died Monday in a Los Angeles hospital at the age of 43, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the Winbigler chapel, it was announced today.

The Rev. E. J. Inwood, former pastor of the First Methodist church, and the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner, present pastor, will officiate at the services. Mr. Clayton, who moved to Tulare about six years ago, had formerly lived in Santa Ana and Fullerton, and was vocalist at the local Methodist church for many years.

He was also prominent in the Cantando club and the Community Players, and was a Mason, a Scot and a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

His first wife, Earla Bemus Clayton, well-known local teacher, died here in 1929. He is survived by their daughter, Miss Farla Nell Clayton of Santa Ana; his wife, Mrs. Earla Denney Clayton of Tulare; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Clayton of Escondido; two sons,

STARS SEND NEW BATTERY AGAINST COLTON

Selkirk Sells Self to Ruth Rooters

The New York Yankees have almost frightened all the competition out of the American league race. At the rate they have been bombarding the fences in the sunny South, the Yanks appear in no mood to change the tactics that enabled them to make a run-away last year when they finished with a 19½-game edge over the second-place Detroit Tigers. Manager Joe McCarthy is stringing along with the same team that clouted its way to the world title over the New York Giants.

McCarthy looks for a big improvement in George Selkirk, speedy right-fielder. George did fairly well last season when he batted in 107 runs and hit .308. Selkirk has completely won over the bleacherites in right field at the Yankee stadium. In doing so, he demonstrated plenty of courage.

For a time it looked as though he might fall a victim to the hostility of the fans. It all started when George trotted into Babe Ruth's old spot in the 1935 opener. It was no fault of Selkirk's that he was assigned Ruth's old No. 3. The fans were angered that the newcomer had the brazen nerve to try to fill the Babe's spot—even to wearing his number. That's all forgotten, now.

Ramage-Nestell Bout Is Sell-Out

HEAVIES MIX AT OLYMPIC TONIGHT

Los Angeles Youth Seeks 12th Win at Expense Of San Diego 'Vet'

(Tonight's fight will be broadcast over KHEE at 9:30 o'clock.)

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Two outstanding California heavyweights, Lee Ramage of San Diego and Bob Nestell of Los Angeles, meet tonight in a bout that has set a new high in local fight interest.

Matched to fight a month ago, they sold out the 10,400-seat Olympic auditorium five days before the date. Ramage injured a finger in training and the bout was postponed.

Matchmaker Suey Welch said today the Olympic's tickets were virtually gone last week, and the bout would draw around $16,000.

Nestell, 21, has risen in spectacular fashion since he left the amateurs, 13 months ago. Ranked the nation's No. 10 heavyweight by the most recent National Boxing association survey, he has won 11 consecutive fights, 10 by knockouts.

Ramage, once a ranking contender until Joe Louis belted him into retirement two years ago, came back last year under the tutelage of the veteran, Pop Foster. With punching ability he never had before, his "comeback" to date has been a success.

Joe Louis is the only man who ever knocked out the 26-year-old Ramage. Nestell has yet to be knocked, but the little fellow may toll two or three innings for the Saints tomorrow. Jack McClure will start. Wilkins will be in right field, with Joe Ortega in center and Jim Wendorf in left.

The Saint infield will remain unchanged—Ben Byland, c; Gene O'Campo, 1b; Mitsuo Nitta, 2b; Pete Partida, ss; and Ernest Barrett, 3b.

Each fighter will weigh about 192 pounds.

Louis May Locate Training Camp at Lake Geneva, Wis.

CHICAGO. (AP)—Selection of a camp in which Joe Louis will train for his heavyweight championship match with E. J. Braddock will be made no later than Thursday, Julian Black, co-manager, said today.

Black favors Lake Geneva, Wis., a summer resort, 80 miles northwest of Chicago.

MONTEBELLO VS. SAINTS TOMORROW

Championship of a three-game exhibition series will go to the winner of a baseball game between Santa Ana and Montebello High schools on Poly field at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Joe Kogler's Saints won the first 5-2, but Montebello eliminated Santa Ana in the Pomona 20-30 club invitational, 7-1. The Saints urged their coach to schedule a third game to seek revenge for that six-run trouncing.

Tommy Wilkins' curve ball is being held in reserve for a Coast league game at Alhambra Friday afternoon, but the little fellow may toll two or three innings for the Saints tomorrow. Jack McClure will start. Wilkins will be in right field, with Joe Ortega in center and Jim Wendorf in left.

The Saint infield will remain unchanged—Ben Byland, c; Gene O'Campo, 1b; Mitsuo Nitta, 2b; Pete Partida, ss; and Ernest Barrett, 3b.

'Y' VOLLEYBALL TEAM SCORES

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. volleyball team rallied in the final games to win at Redlands last night, 14-16, 8-15, 15-3, 15-13, 16-14.

Representing the local team were Ed Gaebe, W. B. Moore, Jr., T. A. Willis, Lyle Forman, C. H. Hoiles, G. E. Raitt, Ralph Raitt and Jack Baker.

Gonzales Captures No. 18 for Troy

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—St. Mary's baseball Gaels, smarting under a 16-6 defeat, tangled with Southern California again today in their third game this season.

The Gaels touched S. C.'s mound ace, Joe Gonzales, for 15 hits, but good support in the field enabled him to win his 18th consecutive game.

APOSTOLI VS. KRIEGER

NEW YORK. (AP)—With the winner rating a probable shot at Freddie Steele's middleweight title, Fred Apostoli, youthful San Francisco challenger, will clash with Solly Krieger, New York, in a return match at the New York Hippodrome tomorrow night.

Apostoli whipped Krieger in the first fight and was favored to repeat.

TRAINING CAMP DOPE

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Ralph Birkofer of the Brooklyn Dodgers is finding that lazy fielding means extra work under Manager Burleigh Grimes. Grimes has ordered the southpaw hurler to practice an hour daily on covering first base from the pitcher's box.

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Frank Gabler, New York Giant pitcher who wrenched his knee early in the spring training season, has left for New York where the knee will be treated. He is not expected to be ready for work before May.

ROME, Ga. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, figured to have one of the strongest pitching staffs in the majors, are bothered by slowness of regulars in rounding into form. Only Rookie Bob Feller has appeared ready to take his place among the four starters.

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Benny Frey, smallest hurler of 11 on the Cincinnati Reds' roster, was akin to the "forgotten man" today as the Reds came here to continue their series with Boston's Red Sox. Frey hasn't seen exhibition game service yet. Manager Chuck Dressen indicated it wasn't an oversight, adding "I know what he can do."

ONTARIO WILL PLAY OILERS TONIGHT

Randy Bell Drills With Santa Ana; Aviators Face Elliott Nine

Planning to send two batteries against the Reds, Santa Ana's Stars make the long hop to Colton tonight for their second nightfall test at 8 o'clock. They won at San Bernardino, 6-4, last week.

Nan Coats, the club's heavy-set first-baseman who has been recuperating from an appendicitis operation in Whittier, will join the Stars for the first time, and will be shifted back of the plate to alternate with Bomo Koral. Koral will catch the offerings of blond Ira DeBusk at the start of the game. Coats will work the last four innings with Al Bushman.

Randy Bell, veteran outfielder owned by Westminster, but who may join Santa Ana, will perform in left field for the Stars at Colton. Russ Porter, a newcomer from Whittier, may play right field in the latter innings.

Manager "Doc" Smith, who will alternate at second base with George Preble, will lead off again tonight. George Conaway, the City leaguer who is making good in centerfield, will swing second. The rest of the order: Bell, 1f; Herb Bower, rf; Bob Mott, 1b; Koral, c; Charles Comstock, ss; Lefty Levens, 3b; DeBusk, p.

ONTARIO CLUB PLAYS

B. B. OILERS TONIGHT
Ontario, the club Santa Ana plays at Ontario Friday, will travel to Huntington Beach tonight to go up against Joe Rodgers' unbeaten Oilers, who have taken the measure of the Elliott and Dash nines of Long Beach by 15-0 and 5-1 scores, respectively.

Westminster will work out with the Elliott stars in the Westminster park at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Prospective players desiring a try-out with the Aviators are urged to report to Manager Francis Penhall.

The Orange Cubs will drill in their own park in an inter-squad game. They hope to schedule Irvine's County league champions at Orange Friday night. . . . Anaheim will drill in its own park.

ANAHEIM TIES DON NINE, 1-1

Erwin Youel rapped a two-bagger that scored Bob Wilde, who had walked, for the run that enabled Santa Ana Junior college to deadlock Anaheim 1-1 in a practice baseball game yesterday. Both teams scored in the fourth. The game was called after nine innings.

HOW THEY STAND

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE
	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	7	2	.778
Seattle	7	3	.700
San Diego	7	3	.700
Los Angeles	6	3	.667
Sacramento	5	5	.500
Portland	3	6	.333
Oakland	2	7	.286
Mission	2	8	.200

The Mission team, problem child of the Pacific Coast league and to date the outstanding cellar tender, opens against the Seattle club in San Francisco tonight, with Manager Willie Kamm hopeful his outfit will start winning ball games.

Opening the season against the San Francisco Seals, the Reds dropped two out of three and then moved to San Diego to lose six out of seven. Kamm said today he expected his team of veterans to break into the win column in a big way during the next three series to be played at the home diamond. San Francisco opens against Sacramento, San Diego invades Oakland and Portland clashes with Los Angeles at Los Angeles.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Canadian papers hear Rabbit Maranville is only stopping off at Montreal on his way back to majors as a manager. . . . If so, where? . . . Outfielder Nino Bongiovanni of Portland is making things plenty tough for the printers around the Pacific Coast league. . . . Story going the rounds in Philly that Lafayette apart in to get Everett (Hooks) Mylin from Bucknell to succeed Ernie Nevers as football coach. . . . The Cardinals, who have never stopped kicking themselves for letting Virgil Davis get away, tried to buy him back for cash last week.

The East will get another taste of the Southwest conference's razzle-dazzle brand of football if the Arkansas Razorbacks succeed in getting on the Boston college or Holy Cross schedules next year. . . . Ware correspondents in the South report the Indians and the Giants are feuding because the Giants took Bob Feller's pitching apart in the papers after failing to do some on the field. . . . Roscoe Toles, Detroit negro heavyweight, says he is considering an offer to become a sparring partner for Jimmy Braddock at $100 per day. . . . Tell us another one, Roscoe.

Rip Radcliffe, White Sox outfielder, always eats his dessert before the other courses. . . . When 124 hopefuls reported for spring football practice at Michigan State, Coach Charlie Bachman erected a portable platform 12 feet above the ground from which to direct the record turnout. . . . In 27 years at Southern California, Dean Cromwell has coached 12 Olympic champions, who have won 15 Olympic titles; 16 national champs, who have won 29 national titles; 19 U. S. C. A. champions, who have won 29 titles, and 12 N. C. A. A. champions, who have delivered 17 titles. . . . And he can step right up now and take a few bows for himself.

The Yankees barnstormers, featuring Gehrig and DiMaggio, continue to pack 'em in through the South. . . . Harry Balsamo, hard-hitting middleweight, is trying a comeback via the New York subway circuit. . . . Gwinn Henry, newly-appointed athletic director at the University of Kansas, coached football at Missouri for nine years, and is the only Big Six coach to trim Nebraska's three years running. . . . Chino Alvarez has signed to defend his southern lightweight title against Carl (Red) Guggino, at Tampa, April 22. . . . The Brooklyn football Dodgers and the New York football Giants are trying to get Ken Sandbach of the Princeton Sandbachs to turn pro. . . . Dodgers said to have the inside track.

Captain Jerry Isett, Southern California sprint champion, heads the 440 and 850-yard relay combinations of Occidental. . . . There is possibility the squad may go on to Philadelphia for the Penn relays next week.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

This, according to what's been in the papers, is "Be Kind to Animals Week."

With most folks, every week is that kind, but perhaps there are some who need education. Either that, or they have guilty consciences!

But, with an eye to learning something about kindness to critters, I hunted up a man who seems to be the foremost dog trainer of his kind in Orange county. He raises and trains greyhounds. And I'd always heard a thing or two of the way greyhounds are treated, so I investigated a bit.

His name is Pat Harmon, and he runs the Harmony Kennels, out between Anaheim and Santa Ana on Highway 101. He's a sizeable person, and perfectly capable of manhandling an even half-dozen of his charges, but he doesn't.

Greyhounds, I discovered, aren't kicked around, like I'd heard. They aren't taught to chase live rabbits, also like I'd heard, and if one-quarter the attention was lavished on the average household that's given those racing animals, the family pet'd probably faint with surprise!

Do you feed your dog equal parts of carefully selected meat and spinach and barley? Do you weigh his food, so that he gets just the proper amount daily? And do you walk him four (4) miles a day, just so he'll be in good condition, and won't be liable to contract some illness common to canines?

No, you don't! Also, can you walk up to your pet with a broom and take a fearful swipe at him and merely have the dog stand, and wag his tail? I'm doubtful. Even the best cared for animal gets an occasional licking. The average person hasn't time to reason with the animal. But greyhounds—they're never beaten, if in the care of a responsible handler. They trust everyone, never bite, and never jump up on people.

Greyhounds (this is all stuff I learned from Pat Harmon) are treated better than the average child. They get their regular ration of cod liver oil. They get a meal of fish at least once a week. They go to bed and arise at regular hours. They think everyone is swell—do some of our undernourished kids feel the same way?

Eighteen of these beautiful animals—all chest and legs and no stomach—are quartered at the Harmony kennels. Every one of them are simply crazy about their owner—and about Mrs. Bacon, his partner. They frisk and jump and play, just like kittens, but at a single word they make a run for their kennels. All training is done by kindness and it's worth it, the way those animals behave!

The weight of dogs is watched carefully. If too heavy, they get more exercise. And, when ready to race, they're merely a bundle of springs and wire, and they race more for the fun of it rather than to catch the rabbit!

They aren't brought up to chase rabbits, by the way, but to chase anything white, even a white rag. It's like waving a red rag at a bull, only the greyhound doesn't get mad. He's just ready to start running!

I was amazed yesterday at the equipment necessary to maintain a kennel. Special gloves and combs for grooming dogs. Special surgical tools to take care of animals injured at the race track. Special muzzles, some for traveling and some for racing, with the latter so built that a dog's nose can't be hurt if he runs into the fence.

Lots of special things! And for dogs—visitors, as it were—boarded at the Harmony Kennels, there are even special mattresses! Very nice ones, filled with special straw and cedar shavings!

All in all, it seems that if the rest of us would treat our animals as well as Harmon, they'd be a lot happier. I don't mean pet 'em all the time, but exercise and feed 'em sensibly, so they don't die off from overeating and lack of exercise many years too soon.

Pat Harmon said yesterday that the kindest thing an owner can do for a dog is to have him inoculated against rabies. Very simple procedure, he said, and may save that animal and many others.

At those kennels I received a practical illustration of kindness to animals, by the way, in a special pen, all by himself, was a racing dog. He didn't seem to be as full of enthusiasm as the rest. I asked about him and learned that he'd been retired a year or so before, after winning more than $10,000 on the dog tracks of the country!

"He'll never race again," Harmon said, "but he has a home here as long as he lives. And I hope he lives a long time!"

Next month he'll take his racing string up north for the season's meeting, and that old dog'll probably go along, just for the fun of it. He's done his best, and now is enjoying Be Kind to Animals Week for the rest of his life!

VISITING AT MESA

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Elizabeth Northcraft, Los Angeles, arrived Sunday for a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hicks on West Nineteenth street.

ASSOCIATED C. OF C. COMMITTEES NAMED FOR NEW YEAR

HOT SPRINGS SUPPORT IS SOUGHT

Lindsey in Charge of San Juan Move; Board Meets in S. A.

Completion of committees for the ensuing year was effected by the board of directors of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, which met last night at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce office.

The group discussed a proposal to assist in the promotion of San Juan Hot Springs as a health resort, leaving the matter to Claude Lindsey.

E. B. Sharpley was delegated to direct the contacting of county chambers of commerce relative to a possible revision of the present law which prohibits coloring of tomato paste.

Committees Named
The group felt that the present law works to the disadvantage of Orange county growers, who produce a grade of early tomato which does not attain a red coloring throughout, and hence requires an artificial coloring.

Following are the committees named, the first in each list to serve as chairman:

Legislative, O. T. Stephens, Claude Lindsey, Gordon Richmond, Ralph McFadden and W. J. Jerome.

Water, LeRoy Lyon, Willis Warner, S. W. Stanley, H. Clay Kellogg, Leslie Kimmel, Harry Lake, Dion Gardner, M. N. Thompson and Mrs. L. F. Moulton.

Publicity, Floyd McCracken and Howard Irwin.

Labor, George Kellogg, S. H. Strathman, Herbert Bray, Holmes Bishop, Thomas L. McFadden, Harry Maxwell, Walter Vandermast and Victor Loly.

Other Groups
Highways, Elmer Crawford, George Kellogg, J. A. Stanley, Ross Shafer, William Schumacher and Walter Bigham.

Marine affairs, Harry Welch; Industrial, W. E. Baker, E. B. Sharpley, Harry Smith, Charles H. Mann, Claude Harlow and William Gallien.

Real estate, Howard Irwin, William Cuddy, Robert Hazzard, Hugh Thompson, H. E. Yockey, Mike Hogue, C. C. Sidman, J. B. Sullivan, J. K. McDonald and S. B. Edwards.

Agriculture, J. J. Dwyer, H. E. Walberg, Dixon W. Tubbs, Brad Hells, Elmer Nichols, Al Schneider, Aaron Buchheim and Carl Hankey.

Safety, C. G. Huston and E. B. Sharpley.

Garden Grove was confirmed as the next place for the general meeting, which will be held April 27. The subject will be water, with particular emphasis to be placed upon the effects of the heavy winter rains.

CHURCH RITES UNITE PAIR
OLIVE.—The wedding of Miss Florence Heim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Heim and Henry W. Reusch, son of Carl Reusch, was solemnized Saturday evening at seven o'clock at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Olive, by the Rev. E. H. Kreidt, pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Conrad Laughlin, Long Beach. The bridegroom's brother, Ernest Reusch, was best man. Immediately after the ceremony, which was witnessed by the in-laws, the couple left for a motor trip. They will live in Olive. The bride was graduated from St. Paul's parochial school and Orange High school. The bridegroom is employed on the Bixby ranch.

FLYER TO AID SCHOOL GROUP
ORANGE.—If you notice an airplane circling over Orange somewhere around noon Wednesday, and if that airplane seems to be dropping things, don't get worried and hunt the bomb cellar. It will only be Joe Hinrichs, tossing out handbills to advertise the high school senior play, "The Bishop Misbehaves," to be given Friday night in the school auditorium.

Young Hinrichs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hinrichs, West Collins avenue, and is studying flying at the Eddie Martin airport. He graduated from the local high school in 1936, but kindly offered to aid in publicizing the annual play.

Club Meets in Orange Home
ORANGE.—Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson was hostess to E. T. C. club members Friday, entertaining with a bridge luncheon. Two guests, Miss Laura Reese and Mrs. Flora Johnson, attended.

Club members were Mesdames Robert Johnson, C. S. Parker, Lillian Bishop, Winnie L. Johnson, Augusta Hayes, F. L. Mellor, Al-Fred Higgins, C. H. Hibben, L. W. Hemphill, A. C. Huscroft and G. W. Murphy. Orange and Mrs. M. L. Willis and Mrs. Anna Richards, Santa Ana.

SIXTY FATHERS AND SONS AT HARBOR FARM EVENT

COSTA MESA.—Sixty sons and fathers attended the first annual banquet sponsored by the local chapter, Future Farmers of America, Friday evening in the high school cafeteria here.

With Wesley Woodhouse acting as master of ceremonies, a program of talks showing growth of the agricultural course at the high school was given. Phillip Vaughn, chapter president, gave a history of the organization, and Hugh Belmont, secretary, told of Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture in high schools.

Harvey Davis outlined national, state and local F. F. A. setups, and Bob Winterbourne, Arnold Christen, Billy De Sutter, Arthur Gibson and Charles Vucich gave short talks on their home farming projects. Judge D. J. Dodge and Mr. Stowell, school board members, and Principal S. H. Davidson gave short talks of encouragement to the youthful farmers.

An indoor track meet concluded the evening.

HONOR YOUTHS IMPROVEMENTS AT MIDWAY CLUB TOPIC
MIDWAY CITY.—John Hadley Pryor, Jr., senior at California Agricultural college at Davis, recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hadley Pryor and brother of Dean Pryor, who was named Phi Beta Kappa at the same university last year.

The two brothers, both graduates of Huntington Beach High school, have achieved many honors through high school and university. John was student body president and valedictorian of his class at high school, won the southern California scholarship at Menlo. During his junior year at college he was elected to Alpha Zeta, the national agricultural honor society, and was editor of the year book. During his senior year he has been publicly manager of the college.

Dean Pryor, who graduated last year, was awarded the alumni scholarship by the University of Wisconsin and has recently been given a fellowship at the same university for the coming year.

Members present were Mesdames H. F. Taylor, W. H. Lowry, E. H. Smith, C. O. Powell, Walter Kogler, David Wettlin, B. D. Stanley, E. P. Ehlen, Lucille Sutherland, Vernon Shippee, G. L. Niles, W. W. Perry, C. F. Rowell, Jane Welsh, W. C. Pixley, R. C. Burdett, Flora Johnson, R. C. Aldren, Miss Emma Williamson and Miss Flo Scarritt.

ORANGE SENIOR PLAY SLATED
ORANGE.—A comedy-drama, "The Bishop Misbehaves," is the play to be presented Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium by the senior class of the school.

For many weeks a cast of carefully chosen seniors has rehearsed to perfect the annual offering, most of the proceeds of which will be used to purchase the annual senior gift to the school.

Miss Shirley Haynes, drama teacher, is director; the stagecraft class is preparing the sets, and the cast includes Wayne Tarvin, Eleanor Kolkhorst, Richard McClellan, Stella Crist, Thomas Powell, Virginia Palmer, Ralph Carnes, Clarence Borchard, Gilbert Ball and David Welsh.

Change Alamitos Brotherhood Date
ALAMITOS.—The Friends church brotherhood hereafter will meet on the Friday following the first Tuesday of the month, according to the decision reached at a meeting Friday evening. Other business included naming of a nominating committee whose members are C. A. Shackelford, A. J. Barnes and Ralph Broadly.

The program included talks by E. E. Nichols on "The Armament Race" and by J. W. Crill on the outlook for this year's orange crop. Miss Mary Lou Hare, Westminster, presented a group of her piano pupils on the program.

Rites Held for Anaheim Rancher
ANAHEIM.—Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. today for John W. Clasbey, 66, a resident of Anaheim for the past 12 years, who died Sunday at his ranch home on Lincoln boulevard after a long illness.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruby Clasbey; a son, Budrett, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Fred Lee, Fullerton, and Mrs. Dorothy Moore, Anaheim; one grandchild, Mrs. A. A. Schnitzer, guests were Miss Head, Mrs. Allen, Miss Chapman, Mrs. E. R. Schneider, Mrs. Charles F. Seitter, Mrs. Conrad Oertly, Mrs. A. A. Schnitzer, Miss Ellen Oertly and Miss Louise Chapman of Brea.

Party Honors Mrs. Anderson
COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Leroy Anderson was honored recently at a surprise birthday luncheon given in her home by members of the Eastern Star, who presented her a gift of pottery.

Present were Hazel Paquette, Bertha Warren, Alice Davis, Dolores Morrison, Fay Clapp, Minnie Pyle, Lorna Taylor, Hazel Leue, Kay Conrady and Lena Heaston.

ATTEND DINNER
TUSTIN.—Bill Bouchard, first mate of the Tustin Sea Scouts, and Charley Scott, second mate, were guests of the Skipper and Mate club at a banquet in Balboa Friday night.

COAST GROUP TO GATHER AT MESA

COSTA MESA.—Highway safety and Orange county's proposed fishing reserve will be two live topics for discussion at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association, which will be held here next Tuesday. Secretary Harry Welch has announced.

Attendance of prominent state highway officials at the meeting is anticipated, Welch said. A highway film will be shown as part of the program and Justus Craemer, assistant director of public works and Highway Commissioner P. A. Stanton are expected to be present.

President Leslie F. Kimmell, Laguna, will report on progress made toward passage of the fishing reserve bill in the state assembly and a county-wide program for support of the reserve will be started, it was announced.

The meeting is set for 6:30 p. m. in the Woman's clubhouse here.

BUSINESS CLUB HAS ELECTION

ORANGE.—Miss Florence Boosey was elected president of the Business and Professional Women's club last night at their annual closed meeting and stung night in the American Legion hall.

First vice president is Miss Melba Chandler, second vice president, Miss Mattie Dannemann; recording secretary, Miss Nelle Crist, corresponding secretary, Miss Bernice Vestal and treasurer, Miss Leona Freeman. Mrs. Blanche Brown was chairman of the nominating committee. Installation will be May 10.

A program of skits and stunts was given under direction of Pauline Thompson and Margaret Babcock, co-chairmen.

"A Sit-down Strike" was the title of a skit by Nelle Plister and Melba Chandler; an accordion solo was played by Miss Bertha Young and "The President's Busy Day" was a take off on a day of Mrs. Audrey Peterson, club president, by Mrs. Merle Schildmeyer and Mrs. Lelia Hughes.

A Dutch dance was given by Miss Crystal Lambert and Mrs. Blanche Brown, and Mrs. Mable Coburn directed a stunt. Lois Allen gave an imitation of a calypso of eight members presented a dance directed by Miss Lorraine Seavy. Miss Seavy then gave a solo dance showing the characteristic tap steps.

NEW INSURANCE PLAN TOLD
ORANGE.—Orange elementary school board members failed to act on renewing of insurance amounting to about $79,000 when they met last night in the intermediate school.

Without considering bids submitted by a number of local insurance men, the board announced it wished to formulate new plans for its insurance, and named a committee of three insurance men to study a blanket plan for the elementary schools similar to that of Anaheim and Fullerton. Named on the committee were Paul Muench, B. D. Stanley and J. F. Rowley.

No action was taken on the budget, which must be adopted before May 1. A called meeting to decide both questions is expected.

AUXILIARY AT ORANGE MEETS
ORANGE.—Members of Orange post, 132, American Legion auxiliary, met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Louise Osmun, president, in charge. It was announced that 1500 poppies to be sold on National Poppy day, May 29, have arrived.

The Mothers' club of the group met all day, sewing and quilting in the forenoon for welfare purposes. Present were Mesdames Mary Franzen, Anna Slater, Catherine Clough, Ora Benson, Anna Christenson, Jennie Bell, Clara Hodson, Emma Davidson, Amelia Hart, Belle Fink, Cora Reynolds and Ida E. Davis.

Parties Fete Patricia Holly
MIDWAY CITY.—The birthday anniversary of Patricia Holly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holly, was observed over the week-end with two parties arranged in her honor.

The first was a surprise affair Saturday night planned by Frances Heil, the guests meeting at the Heil home before going to Laguna where they were entertained by Mrs. Georgia Day Robertson in her canyon home.

Places were laid for Dorothy Mayberry, Doris Hart, Frances Heil, Marie Arnett, Lois Hart, Peggy Mayberry, Emmaetta Hart, Clarence Wasser, Melvin Heil, Norman Toussaint, Chester Heil, Bob Rumbold, Clayton Van Steenberg and the guest of honor.

Sunday evening Mrs. Holly entertained for her daughter, inviting members of the Senior Christian Endeavor society for a dessert luncheon. The group included Alfred Wasser, Melvin Heil, Wayne Furry, Doris Hart, Helen Finley, Lois Hart, Marie Arnett, Frances Heil, Dorothy and Peggy Mayberry, Betty Holly and Clayton Van Steenberg.

ATTEND DINNER
TUSTIN.—Bill Bouchard, first mate of the Tustin Sea Scouts, and Charley Scott, second mate, were guests of the Skipper and Mate club at a banquet in Balboa Friday night.

WANTED---OLD BOTTLES! 'Floaters' Sought For State

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Those bottles hanging on the wall in song whenever the quartet gets going, have nothing on the bottles hanging around in the waters here that the Fish and Game Commission wants everybody to watch for. They are checking currents, drifts, tides and the like by setting adrift thousands of marked bottles.

These bottles are dark bottles. They are weighted to float upright and the nose of the bottle will stick out of the water only an inch or two. It is expected most of them will be picked up on the beaches up and down the coast. It will be noticed when picked up that the bottle contains a card so that it can be read.

This notice asks the finder to break the bottle and mail the postcard, which also is enclosed.

EXHIBIT OPENS AT LAGUNA
LAGUNA BEACH.—Presenting a varied and interesting display, the new exhibit at the Laguna Beach Art Gallery is now being shown containing oils, watercolors, prints, lithographs, and sculpture by representative artists.

Also included are Eleanor Colburn, Warren Squires, Benjamin C. Brown, A. V. Fullerton, Ruth Peabody, Virginia Woolley, Seymour Paul, Katherine Conover, Jade Fon, Rex Brandt, Roy Walter James, Bill Paul, Elynd Earl, Jean Swiggett, Alvin J. Beller, Edith Perrine, Dave Scott, Ivan Bartlett, Elsie Lower Pomeroy, Arthur Beaumont and L. R. Langworthy; sculpture, Ruth Peabody, Walter Lamb and Preston L. Prescott.

In the entrance hall are paintings by Roxoli Seabury, Alice Whitaker, Frederic Schwankowsky, Julie Raymond, Esther Snee, Dan Dickey, Marcot Benkerrell, Herbert Acker, Joane Cronwell, Grant Plumb, and C. A. Fries; fabric prints, Alice Whitaker.

In the lower gallery are Everett Gee Jackson, oils, watercolors, prints, and lithographs; Arthur Beaumont, watercolors, and Lawrence Murphy, drawings.

CHAPTER XX
NICK turned. A young man was coming down the corridor. As he passed, he gave Nick a furtive look, then went on. There was something vaguely familiar about him, but Nick could not remember where he had seen him before.

When he had disappeared, Nick turned again to Nita's door, and knocked softly. There was no answer.

"Nita," he called. "Nita!" Then he muffled answer came. "What is it?"

"Nita—I'm sorry. Let me come in."

"No, Nick."

He heard her come close to the other side of the door.

"I've thought it over—I want you to come away with me," he pleaded.

"I'll see you in the morning," Nita answered. "Please leave now."

Her change in mood—and her coolness—maddened him, made him ready to throw everything to the winds for her.

"No—come with me tonight. Please, Nita!"

"That will be impossible. Go away, Nick!"

Hidden from him by the closed door, Nita's face held a smile of triumph. So she had played her cards right, after all! She had seen the seed in his mind, then let it take root. He was now fully realizing the consequences of losing her.

"I won't take no, Nita!" he said. "Change your clothes and pack—I'll be back in half an hour!"

With that, he turned and strode away.

MEANWHILE, downstairs the Club Casino had closed, and Martha and Anna were back in the waitresses' quarters. Martha, after she had caught sight of Nick and fled to the kitchen, had pleaded that she was not feeling well and had been permitted to remain in the kitchen, doing light jobs instead of returning to the club floor.

Now she was debating how she could get away from Oakville as soon as possible, in order to avoid the risk of coming face to face with Nick. She had no car or money, and she couldn't walk far in a storm like this. Her chief hope seemed to lie with the two men who had said they were leaving very early in the morning.

It was already past two o'clock Dawn was only a few hours away. She decided she would go to the hotel and wait for the men. Anna laid down the magazine through which she had been stalling, and yawned.

"I think I'll turn in, kid. You'd better do the same. By the way

FUGITIVE BRIDE by RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Three days before Martha Halliday, daughter of a wealthy banker, is to marry Nick Garrett, playboy scion of a fine old family, she overhears gossip that he is marrying her only for her money. Also, she knows that he has been trailing a dancer, Nita Lombard, on her 'out about the country. Martha suddenly decides to run away from her wedding and sets out in her car. She is stranded in a storm, loses her purse, and is forced to 'take a job as waitress in the hotel cubby-hole bedrooms that had been assigned to them.

"You've got possibilities," said Anna. "I noticed, after I made you up that there's something—well, different about your looks. You're not just a type."

Martha smiled. "Thanks," she said. "Good night."

IN HER little room, she took off the waitress uniform and slipped into her own jersey dress. She waited a while, until she was sure all the other girls had retired, then picked up her coat and hat and left the room.

As she was making her way along one of the corridors, a man suddenly appeared around a corner. She recognized the orchestra pianist, and could tell, from his uncertain gait, that he had been drinking.

He stopped as they neared each other.

"Lost?" he asked.

"Oh, no," Martha answered, thinking like a fool. "I'd just been to the telephone, hoping the lines had been fixed."

"Were they?"

"No—still dead."

She saw that his eyes had an undercurrent of madness.

"So we're kind of shut off from everyone, aren't we?" he said.

"Very much so."

"They stood silent a moment. They could hear the wind whistling about the building.

Suddenly, the pianist uttered a mirthless laugh.

"A wonderful night—a night made to order for a murder!" he said bitterly.

"Oh!" gasped Martha. "Don't talk like that!"

"I'm sorry," he muttered, and passed a hand across his forehead.

MARTHA was disturbed by his strange manner. Intuitively she knew that he was not merely drunk—that he was deeply troubled about something. She had a sudden impulse to go to him.

"Let's go out on the veranda," she suggested, "and take a look at the storm. I need air—and maybe you do, too."

"All right," he agreed.

They found their way to a door and stepped out onto the veranda that ran around three sides of the building. The scene outside was wild, with wind and rain whirling with each other in fury. Martha, with Gregory beside her, began walking along the porch. Neither spoke for a while.

Then, Martha laid a sympathetic hand on the young man's arm.

"You'll feel much better after this," she said. "It will get all that smoke from the Club Casino out of your lungs."

They came to the front of the hotel. Gregory suddenly left her side and, turning his coat collar up, went down the steps and stood for a minute in the driveway, looking up at the building.

The lights that still shone from one room on the mezzanine floor then, he came back.

"Thanks," he said. "This has been a pleasure. And now, if you don't mind, I think I'll go back inside."

Inside Martha bade him good night and watched him disappear down a corridor. Then she started toward the rear of the hotel to find her way to the garage.

PORT SAFETY DRIVE IS OPENED

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Safety campaign plans of the Newport Harbor district were advanced at a meeting today of the chamber of commerce safety committee headed by W. H. Adams, chairman.

Delegates from all important organizations of the harbor area were in attendance. Among those interested were: C. S. Demason, and Dr. C. G. Huston representing the chamber; Mrs. W. J. Neville, Costa Mesa, representing the High school P. T. A.; Elmer E. Heidt, Santa Ana; L. W. Briggs for the Newport Harbor Yacht club; Mrs. Edwin M. Williams and Mr. D. S. Lloyd for Corona del Mar; Mrs. Nella B. Norton for the Legion auxiliary and Al Dyckman for the Legion Post, J. D. Watkins for the Service Club and Mrs. E. F. Dixon, Ebell club. Other organizations were represented by one of the officers when they had not already appointed delegates.

G. G. Pension Meeting Set
GARDEN GROVE.—A pot-luck supper was held by the Garden Grove Townsend club Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Roy Webb was the after-dinner speaker. The program included various musical features.

RULES GIVEN FOR HEATER CONTEST

Dec. 15 Is Last Date For Submission Of New Devices

LOS ANGELES. — The $5000 award offered by C. C. Teague for improved frost protection equipment has aroused great interest among inventors and scientists in many fields, the orchard heating committee of the Fruit Growers Supply company reports in announcing conditions of the contest.

The sought-for improvement must encompass the following factors: The interest of public welfare, the practical elimination of smoke under operating conditions in citrus orchards, quickness and ease of lighting, cheapness of manufacture, diffusion of heat, ability to consume completely the fuel readily available in large quantities in Southern California, such as diesel oil carrying as high as 1 1/2 per cent of carbon residue as determined by the Conradson method, performance under both high and low burning rates, adaptability to orchard installation and operation, adaptability to existing orchard heating equipment, saving in labor requirements for practical operation.

While most of these conditions apply to heating devices, this prize is open to all methods of frost protection.

Working models of proposed devices must be submitted at the request of the judging committee for experimental purposes not later than Dec. 15, 1937, which is the closing date of the contest.

The committee will judge the contest and announce the decision on or before March 1, 1938.

Entrants agree, as a condition of entry, to negotiate with Fruit Growers Supply company for the manufacture and sale of whatever devices may be deemed of merit by the judging committee.

WILL SPEAK ON FARM BILLS

Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the Orange County Farm bureau left yesterday for Sacramento to look after two measures of vital importance to Orange county farmers.

One of the matters is a bill introduced last week by Assemblyman Thomas Kuekel of Anaheim, which would reduce the sugar ratio standard for navel oranges. Reduction of the standardization of the sugar content of navels from eight to one seven and a half to one, as provided in the measure, would be a great advantage to this county, citrus growers feel.

The other matter the farm bureau is interested in is assembly bill 1014, which would repeal a section added to the state cannery code last session, which prohibits the use of coloring in the manufacture of tomato products. Flaherty will appear at a hearing before the committee on public health and quarantine to support repeal of the provision.

It was pointed out that the section affected by the law, including Orange county grows the earliana variety of tomato, and that the measure banning coloring tomato products would practically prohibit the growing of this high type tomato because it does not possess the same degree of color as other varieties.

Prison 'Houdini' Ready to Become A Convict Again

PINEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Stripped at last of the secret he had held for four years, Cecil Miracle, a prison "Houdini," was pictured today by his attorney as being prepared to return to convict life.

The attorney, W. L. Hammond, said Miracle, 35-year-old lumberman and father, had admitted escaping from prisons from coast to coast during the last 14 years, and said he would not resist extradition to Alabama, where authorities said he fled from Kilby prison, Dec. 29, 1929, while serving a three-year term for burglary and grand larceny.

At first Miracle denied charges. But when confronted with records disclosing Miracle had fled California, Alabama and Florida penitentiaries, the prisoner broke down.

Miracle's criminal career began in 1923 when he was convicted of an armed robbery charge in California and sentenced to a life term under the alias of J. H. Miller. Hammond said he was informed. He escaped five years later from San Quentin prison.

Pacts End Auto Finance Plaints

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A group of leading automobile producing and financing companies signed agreements yesterday to end federal trade commission complaints about advertising of 6 per cent financing plans for automobile purchasers.

The companies, contending they never represented their installment purchase plans as costing a purchaser 6 per cent annual interest, agreed to make clear in future advertisements that the cost is 6 per cent of the total debt of the purchaser when he buys the car. The commission claimed the auto buyer under this plan pays between 10 and 12 per cent interest.

Exhibits Indian Pictures Here

The Old Man, E-sh-goo and other colorful and legendary figures familiar to western Indian tribes, come to Santa Ana tomorrow.

NEGRO SINGERS ANNOUNCED

The Cotton Blossom singers are coming to town tomorrow. Santa Ana people who enjoy the negro spirituals, sung by negroes, always look forward to the annual visit of the Cotton Blossom singers to Southern California.

The Cotton Blossom singers are a group of students from the Piney Woods school, Piney Woods, Miss.

"This school is a fine example of the ability of the negro people to do a big thing in a big way and to work for the progress of their own people," said the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church where the program will be given. "Piney Woods school is a monument to the principal and founder of the school Laurence Jones. He is a negro who grew up and was educated in the schools of Iowa. He worked his way through high school and the University of Iowa. Then he went South to one of the most needy regions. There, with no other capital than his own personality and education, he started a school for the poor boys and girls of his own race. Today he has a student body of over 400, an educational plant of many acres and good substantial buildings and equipment. Most of the building was done by the students themselves."

"Groups of singers from the student body tour the country giving concerts of the negro spirituals. One such group will sing at the First Congregational church tomorrow evening."

"Admission will be free and the public is cordially invited. Those who come will have a profitable and pleasant evening. The concert will begin at 7:30 p. m."

U. S. GOLD FUNDS AT NEW HIGH

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The treasury reported today its inactive gold fund was more than $400,000,000.

The largest increase—$26,819,925—since the fund was set up late in December was recorded for April 10, lifting total gold holdings in the account to $403,056,955. On the same date, aggregate gold holdings reached a new high of $11,634,309,615.

Under the treasury's gold "sterilization" program, gold inflows from abroad go into the inactive fund. The program is destined to keep a large amount of gold imports on domestic credit.

Under the plan, the treasury borrows from the money market in amounts equal to gold inflows to keep stable the credit supply.

'Shakespeare' of Turkey Is Dead

ISTANBUL, Turkey. (AP)—Abdullah Hamid, 86, the poet who was called "The Turkish Shakespeare," died last night.

Hamid went to England at an early age and spent 20 years there in the Turkish diplomatic corps. His handsome bearing and polished manner made him a great favorite at court during Victoria's reign and he was a personal friend of the queen.

British Launch Plane Carrier

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. (AP)—The Ark Royal, Britain's new $15,000,000 aircraft carrier, was launched today before 30,000 spectators.

The Ark Royal, of 22,000 tons, is Britain's seventh aircraft carrier. Two others are under construction.

Creations of R. Remlow Harris of Pasadena, writer-artist-poet, the characters live in the art work which has attracted nationwide attention. A large group of the original drawings and poems by Harris, whose work appears exclusively in The Journal's Five Star Weekly, will be on display in the city library for about 10 days starting tomorrow.

Knows Indians

The interesting exhibit here will give residents of Santa Ana and vicinity an opportunity to see the originals, which are reproduced in the Five Star Weekly, distributed with The Journal on Thursdays.

Harris knows Indians and western life. He lived the greater part of his life in Arizona, where he went to school with Indian boys and came to know them and their colorful legends. The legends he uses as subjects for art and poetry are authentic. They have been handed down for untold generations by the Indians.

Miracle Worker

The age-old legends of the Old Man who re-created the world after the flood, the Wampum Bird that enriched only the braves that were unselfish, E-sh-goo, the mystic miracle worker and many others are made to live again in Harris' art and poetry.

The work of Harris today is bringing the colorful legends with millions of children and adults. His unique and unorthodox artistry is nationally recognized. The moral of each tale is couched in modern terms, but loses none of its old-time meaning.

Girl Pulls Huge Officer From Burning Machine

RIVERSIDE. (AP)—Miss Margaret Padden, 105-pound Riverside stenographer, pulled Dan Davis, 220-pound police sergeant, from the flaming wreckage of his automobile which was crowded into a palm tree by a passing car.

Davis' car exploded and caught fire shortly after Miss Padden rescued him Sunday night.

"I guess I didn't think; I just went up and pulled the man out when someone told me he was inside the car," Miss Padden said.

"Anyone would have done what I did, under the circumstances."

The Riverside Press-Enterprise announced it would apply for a Carnegie hero medal for Miss Padden.

Asks Farmers to Hire Residents

RIVERSIDE. (AP)—Harold E. Pomeroy, state relief administrator, is urging the employment by farmers of California residents to halt the influx of itinerant workers from other states.

"Relief rolls must be cut from 60,000 to 24,000 by June 30 if the administration is to keep within its budget," Pomeroy told the labor committee of the Riverside County Associated Farmers here yesterday.

He urged closer cooperation between farmers and the state re-employment service in supplying jobs for resident workers.

Near-Stabbing Case Reported

Leon Castro and John Baez of El Modena were recovering today from what sheriff's officers were told almost developed into a stabbing at Castro's store there Saturday night.

Castro told the officers Baez drew a knife during an argument, and added that he struck Baez on the head with a rock to forestall an attack. No charges have been filed.

28 Saved From Stricken Ship

ANSTRUTHER, Scotland. (AP)—Lifeboats from the Culler-Coates station today carried 28 passengers to safety from the Danish steamer Island, grounded and taking water near the Isle of Man off the Scottish coast.

COMPLETION OF SCHOOL URGED

A delegation of parents whose children go to Edison school appeared before the board of education last night to ask that completion of the building program at the school be hurried.

The new auditorium at the school, they said, is nice, but there are not seats in it. And, besides, the floor is too level, making it impossible for those in the rear to see up front.

Other complaints the delegation made concerned the unfinished parts of the school building. They said some of the parents of young children are considering taking their children out of the school unless conditions are improved.

Two classrooms have been built, but the board has not enough money with which to complete the building program at this time, the delegation was informed. About $31,000 is needed to complete the building of four more classrooms. An application has been made to the PWA for financial help on the building, but no action has yet been taken, Business Manager George Newcom said.

The board of education indicated that even if PWA funds are not available, construction work will be resumed by July 1. Dr. Margaret Baker said that if the PWA does not grant the funds, the board will levy a tax to complete the work. It was said that this tax would amount to 12 cents.

VESSEL DRIFTS RUDDERLESS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Efforts to rig a jury rudder fruitless, the San Francisco-bound freighter Manukai was hove to today approximately 1150 miles southwest of San Diego, awaiting the coast guard cutter Itasca speeding to her assistance.

A message from the freighter yesterday reported its rudder gone and asked for aid. The coast guard dispatched the Itasca from San Diego under forced draft. Early today the Itasca reported its position at 945 miles from the disabled freighter. The cutter said she was making 15 knots and should reach the Manukai Thursday.

Captain S. King of the Manukai said the 5895 ton freighter was in no immediate danger.

Union Pacific Chief to Retire

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The dean of American railroad executives, Carl R. Gray, will retire from the presidency of the Union Pacific system Oct. 1, three days after his 70th birthday.

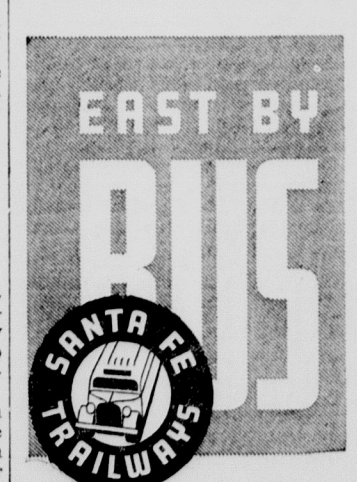

He will remain in the company's service, however, becoming vice-chairman of the board of directors, at New York.

William M. Jeffers, 61, executive vice president, who started with the railroad at the age of 14 as a call boy, will succeed Gray. He will be realizing a life's ambition.

"I would rather be president of the Union Pacific than president of the United States," he said today.

'LIE DETECTOR' AID TO 'HEIR'

NEW YORK. (AP)—Insofar as the "lie detector" is concerned, Thomas Patrick Morris, a house painter, told the truth in his claim to the $50,000,000 fortune left by John G. Wendel, according to the Rev. Walter Summers, head of the psychology department at Fordham university who conducted the test.

Morris' claim to the Wendel fortune ended in defeat some time back and brought him a prison term on a conspiracy conviction.

Two questions in the strange case, Father Summers said, were stressed in the examination—one Morris' contention that he was John G. Wendel's son and the other that Wendel had given him a will making him sole heir.

John G. Wendel died in Los Angeles in 1914, leaving a vast fortune in real estate. For many years, his sister, Ella Von E. Wendel, the sixth of the Wendel sisters, lived in the old family home on Manhattan's Fifth avenue.

She was the last of the Wendel line and her death was followed by the filing of numerous claims for a share in the huge fortune.

Rebels' Backer Visits in Rome

NAPLES. (AP)—Juan March, Spanish millionaire and financial backer of insurgent generalissimo Francisco Franco, arrived Saturday aboard the liner Conte di Savoia for "a two or three months visit in Rome."

"Things are going well in Spain," he stated, declining to discuss the purpose of his visit to Italy. It was believed he might be received by Premier Mussolini.

Four S. A. Boys Have Farm On Which to Start Life

Four Santa Ana boys are going to have a 20-acre farm on which to start life. The property is located on Fairview street and was purchased for $8000. It lies just south of the 20-acre farm now owned and operated by S. Nitta, who has farmed here for 20 years.

Nitta's three sons, Hitoshi, Minoru and Mitsuo, will have a place to go to work and carve careers for themselves when they finish school. With them will be Hideo Matsukane, son of Athihiro Matsukane, who farms 25 acres on Harbor boulevard. The land was purchased from the Holly Sugar company.

The land will be used for alfalfa or truck gardens.

Nitta's oldest son, Hitoshi, is now going to school at San Luis Obispo, studying agriculture. Minoru, the second son, is in Santa Ana Junior college, where he plays football. Mitsuo is a senior in Santa Ana High school. He will graduate in June and then will go to Davis Agriculture college. He plays football and baseball.

Nitta, their father, has lived in Orange county 30 years, 20 of which have been in Santa Ana. He came to California in 1897, at the age of 17.

CAMP OSCEOLA SPLIT SEEN IN DATES SET

Camp Osceola will be open from July 10 to July 22 for Santa Ana boys according to Boys' Secretary Herbert Thomas of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. The announcement has been eagerly awaited by scores of boys who are planning to enjoy this annual outing in the San Bernardino mountains.

Osceola will enter on its fifteenth season of outdoor life for young people on June 14, when Girl Scouts from Anaheim and Whittier will go in for two weeks. They will be followed by the "Y" boys of north Orange county, who will give place on July 10 to the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. groups.

The camp is located on the south fork of the Santa Ana river, seven miles above Seven Oaks, and it has gained a reputation through the years as a place of good food, comfortable surroundings and attractive program. This year the season will run from June 14 to September 6, without a single vacant interval.

Santa Ana boys were warned by Secretary Thomas that early registrations for camp are advised.

DETROIT. (AP)—A special meeting of the executive board of the United Automobile Workers has been called for next Monday and there were reports that contemplated plans for "disciplining" some leaders might lead to a bitter factional dispute.

One U. A. W. A. official said the union is prepared to take drastic action, if necessary, to enforce compliance by members with agreements signed with automobile manufacturers.

The situation in Flint, Mich., particularly is viewed with some concern, according to this official, because 17 unauthorized strikes have occurred there in three weeks. Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W. A., has urged full compliance with the agreements.

able, since the capacity is limited. Last year a number of boys were disappointed because the space was filled and they could not be taken. Thomas is already receiving applications, and expects to have his camp roster filled by the time school ends in June.

STATE'S TAX REVENUE IN INCREASE

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Tax collections continue ahead of last year, with a noticeable increase in sales tax revenues, State Controller Harry B. Riley has reported.

Nearly $64,000,000 poured into the treasury from the sales tax from last July 1 to March 31, compared with less than $53,000,000 for the same period last year. Every other comparable tax is bringing in more money, also, Riley said.

This includes insurance company taxes, motor transportation license taxes, inheritance taxes, motor vehicle license taxes, gas taxes and alcohol beverage revenues.

Bank and corporation franchise taxes show a decrease but this is because there was a longer period covered last year by the payments made during late 1935.

The cash position of the general fund, Riley said, is $13,500,000 better now than it was a year ago. There are now $30,800,000 outstanding warrants.

May Call Espee Strike Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—District officials of two railroad brotherhoods have set Thursday night as the tentative time for a possible strike call on Pacific lines of the Southern Pacific company.

C. V. McLaughlin, speaking for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Brotherhood of Trainmen, said a committee of 60 representing all divisions of the lines was to meet here today to determine definite action.

He stated the results of a strike vote would be sent to national officers of the brotherhoods at Cleveland, Ohio, and that the Southern Pacific would then be notified.

HOT WATER for HEALTH

Plentiful supplies always on tap with an Automatic GAS Water Heater

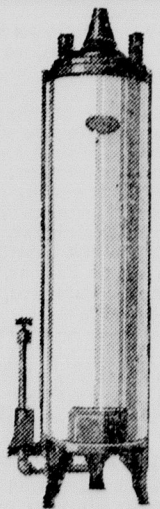

EVEN more important than the soothing relaxation of a warm bath every day is the health it safeguards. And for the same reason it's more than a matter of pride to have dishes that sparkle, linen snowy white, woodwork that gleams. Of course, these require plenty of hot water!

That's why an automatic gas water heater is so necessary in every home. It provides gallon after gallon of hot water at a turn of the faucet, heating new supplies of cold water faster than does any other type.

If you act quickly, you can buy one of these heaters on unusually attractive terms. Note the easy payment plan. Then call on your dealer or gas company right away—before it's too late!

TRAFFIC COUNCIL TURNS DOWN PLAN FOR CITIZEN PATROLMEN

OPPOSITION VOICED AT MEETING

Will Study the Possibility
Of More Motorcycle
Police Officers

It will be a long time before the new traffic safety commission recommends to the city council that any special traffic safety patrolmen be appointed, if it ever does.

Members of the commission, holding their first meeting since organization last month, decided yesterday afternoon to study the matter of recommending appointment of safety patrolmen "a long time" before taking any action.

Opposition to the plan was expressed by Commissioner Charles D. Swanner and others. Swanner said the effect of naming the safety patrolmen would be to make citizens suspicious of each other. He said business men and the community as a whole find the plan objectionable. The type of people who would want the jobs are the type of people the commission would not want, he said.

Plan Outlined
Councilman Ernest H. Layton, who fathered the plan for the new traffic safety commission, explained that the idea back of naming the special patrolmen is psychological, and that there is nothing legal about it. It was explained that the plan was to have records kept of traffic violations as reported by the traffic patrolmen. Reports made by the traffic patrolmen would be kept on file, and anyone whose name was turned in would have a right to demand to know who reported him, Layton said.

The major part of the meeting was devoted to an explanation of the traffic work now being carried on in the city by the motorcycle officers. The report was made by Sgt. B. A. Hershey.

To Make Survey
It was indicated that the traffic commission will make a study of the size of the motorcycle force here as compared with cities of equal size, and then make a recommendation to the city council regarding increasing the force. It was estimated that the city needs at least two more motorcycle officers in Santa Ana.

Sergeant Hershey showed the traffic commission how records of accidents are kept on a big map, and how investigations are made if many accidents occur on the same intersection, with a view to eliminating hazards.

There are two major factors to consider in traffic safety work, Sergeant Hershey explained, the first being to make the streets safe, and the second the human element involving the driver. There are 136 miles of streets in Santa Ana to patrol.

There are but five motorcycle officers to patrol these streets, he pointed out. Most accidents in a serious nature occur from around midnight to the early morning hours. Because of the rush of traffic during the day-time hours, it is not possible to patrol the city properly in the other hours with the small force available, it was brought out.

With development of more through streets through the city, and when the First street and Memory Lane bridges are opened up, bringing more traffic through First and Flower streets, the problem of properly handling traffic will be accentuated, it was stated.

Coronation Curiosities

By HAROLD S. CORBIN

One of a series of 18 articles explaining some of the novel phases in the coronation of King George VI of England on May 12, and citing historical precedents for them.

DECIDING WHO'S WHO

For weeks approaching King George's coronation, the English court of claims has been meeting to receive and hear applications from many wealthy and titled persons to perform the traditional services to the monarch. Expensive lawyers have submitted written and oral arguments for their clients and sometimes the debates of rivals for the positions have taken an acrimonious turn.

The court of claims is almost as old as the traditional services. Up to the time of Henry III, or about 1236, the court of claims was only a rudimentary court. About that time, however, feuds flared up among the nobles over such matters as who should carry one of the three famed swords, who the golden spurs, and so on. Kings were beginning to awaken on coronation mornings to find a first-class political brawl on their hands, contrary to the peace and quiet a monarch could reasonably expect. Henry particularly asked his gentlemen to call it quits until after Easter. Then he hastened to set up a commission which, by the time of Richard II about 100 years later, was quite established as the court of claims.

The court has convened once in almost every generation since. An old manuscript providing for the coronation of Henry VII, in 1485, reads: "There is required manifold great and humble services to be done as appertaining to the no worse offenders than older persons, the number of tickets being written being about equally divided.

Safety Class

Discussion on proposed appointment of a part-time secretary to take care of detail matters for the commission brought forth the suggestion that if the city adds to the motorcycle force one of the officers might devote part of his time to work of the safety commission.

Reporting on plans for teaching safety and proper driving methods in the schools, P. A. Henderson, school superintendent and member of the commission, said that such a course now is available in a high school class, but that the subject will be introduced so that students in all of either the ninth or tenth grades may take it next year. He pointed out that it is too late this term to introduce a new subject.

Asks Stop Sign

The commission referred back to the city council, until such time as the commission has something to handle such matters, a request by Ben W. Stevens that a boulevard stop be put in on Seventeenth at Broadway, and that chime bells be installed on stop and go signals at Seventeenth and Main, Seventeenth and Broadway and First and Main.

Commissioner A. A. Hardy was named to make a study of a national safety council plan and report back at the next meeting. Chairman Elmer Heidt and Secretary O. Scott McFarland were asked to investigate a proposal that Santa Ana enter a statewide traffic safety contest, sponsored by traffic safety commission of the motor vehicle department.

A program of activities, as suggested by Chairman Elmer Heidt, included a study of signs on streets, overhead and night signs; highway markings, stripes and letters, diagonal parking as it might apply to safety work, boulevard stops, illuminated intersections, railroad crossings, automatic signals, routing traffic, trucks and autos, dangerous intersections, blind streets and not through streets, obstructions to vision and school crossings.

With development of more through streets through the city, and when the First street and Memory Lane bridges are opened up, bringing more traffic through First and Flower streets, the problem of properly handling traffic will be accentuated, it was stated.

Sergeant Hershey brought out several interesting facts, one being that the recent safety drive has shown that young people are king's most royal person and estate." Several noblemen are named to "hears and determine every man right in that behalf."

Among notations of the court of claims of Richard II, one William de Bardolf was granted the office of making for a king "a mess, which is called dilgrunt, and if fat be added, then it is called malpigerum." But the serious William hired an expert to make the mess for him—and he had to get permission for that, too.

CLERKS' UNION IS STARTED

"White collar" unionization in Orange county started last night when 18 retail clerks signed union applications and became the nucleus for an Orange county local of the Retail Clerks International Protective Association.

It was announced that a charter will be installed two weeks from last night, at a meeting in the Labor Temple at Santa Ana, to be held at 8 p. m.

At the time additional members are to be taken in, and officers will be elected.

Last night's meeting was held at the Labor Temple at the invitation of the Orange County Central Labor Council, and was addressed by B. Buffett, organizer and business agent for the Los Angeles county unit.

Buffett said the organization has taken in hundreds of members in Los Angeles during the past two months and has signed agreements with retail stores in a number of lines.

About 30 clerks, representing food, clothing, shoes, and general merchandise stores, attended the session last night.

Students' Pleas
Save Evergreen
At High School

School board, spare those trees! This was the plea made by about 50 students of the high school, who directed a petition to the board of education last night, asking members not to take out two big evergreen trees in front of the auditorium.

But one of the trees already is gone, having been taken out last week. This one grew too close to the building, it was said.

The other big evergreen, however, will be left standing in its circle before the auditorium. The students said that it would take about 50 years to raise such beautiful trees.

School Officials
To View Aqueduct

A trip along the Colorado river aqueduct, which will bring water to three Orange county cities, will be taken in the near future by the Santa Ana board of education.

Last night the board accepted an invitation of Col. S. H. Finley, Santa Ana's representative on the Metropolitan Water District board of directors, to take the trip, which will be held at a date yet to be arranged.

Teacher Retiring
Fund Bill Passes

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—A bill which will permit local school teachers' retirement fund was passed yesterday by the senate.

AGED SEA CAPTAIN DEAD
CHATHAM, Mass. (AP)—Captain Samuel Gilman Harding, 96, oldest sea captain in the Cape Cod section, is dead here. He went to sea at the age of 12, was made captain when he was 21, and after 15 years of sailing vessels he retired and entered the grocery business in Boston.

GRANT LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO FIVE

Teachers in Santa Ana
System Make Changes
In Their Plans

Requests for leaves of absence by five teachers were granted by the board of education last night. The request of Mrs. Edna Day, Jefferson teacher, for an extension of a year and a half ago, was granted by the board.

Leaves were granted to two teachers who plan to be married. These are Miss Willa Foshier of Lincoln school and Miss Lenora Fernandez of Lowell school.

Resignation Accepted
Miss Marian Bruner plans to attend Columbia university next year, and was granted a leave of absence so she could do so. Mrs. Emily Butterfield of Spurgeon school was granted leave of absence for a year.

The resignation of Mrs. Lura Livenspire, who withdrew from her position as assistant librarian at the high school last year, was accepted by the board. Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Jefferson teacher, who plans to be married, will be given leave of absence or approval of request for resignation, which ever she desires.

Superintendent F. A. Henderson informed the board that eight teachers had notified him that they were planning to return from leave of absence.

Teacher Transfers

These are Mrs. Helen M. Johnston of Jefferson, Mrs. Eleanor L. Christie of Spurgeon, Mrs. Sue Smith of Fremont, Mrs. Hazel Lazare Hessel of Lowell, Mrs. Juanita Fletcher of Lowell, Mrs. Ruby Drake of McKinley, C. L. Tibbets of the high school and Miss Lulu Finley of the high school.

The board last night also approved transfer of Ruth McBunney of the board of education staff to the high school staff. The vacancy will be filled by Phyllis O'Connor Smith, former secretary of physical education at the high school, who will be paid $80 a month. Willena Bell will be employed as the physical education secretary at the high school at $70 a month.

ELKS DANCE TO BE SATURDAY

Approximately $200 worth of door prizes and 15 gross of fun makers have been provided for the Elks hard times dance and carnival to be staged here on Saturday night. There also will be two dance bands, according to Joe Harless, business manager for the Elks double quartet.

The affair will be held to help finance sending the quartet to Denver, Colo., for the national convention the week of July 12.

Food will be prepared by W. K. Duffy, Elks club chef. Corned beef sandwiches, hot dogs and coffee will be featured on the menu.

Elmer Sullivan is in charge of concessions for the affair; the official greeters are Pete Beisel, Harold Brown and J. Nieman, and food concessions are in charge of Frank Briggs.

The affair will be open to the public. Tickets may be secured at the door or from members of the Elks club.

Burkes to Make
European Trip

J. Fink Burke, Los Angeles radio station owner and former Santa Ana publisher, will leave with Mrs. Burke May 1 for a four-month tour of Europe and the Orient.

The Burkes will sail from Vancouver, B. C., for Japan, China, Siberia, Russia and France. In Paris they will be guests of Mrs. Burke's sister.

Rotarians Plan
Convention Trip

Several Rotary club members from Santa Ana today were planning a trip to Hollywood for the twenty-second annual Rotary district convention, April 25-28.

C. A. Warren heads the committee in charge of local plans for the meeting, which will draw Rotarians from California, Nevada, Hawaii and Baja California. Expected attendance is 8500.

Block C at High School Accepted

A formal resolution accepting Block "C" of the high school buildings was adopted by the board of education last night. The building is the new shop building, the last of the major construction units at the high school. It now is completed, and machinery is being moved into it.

PUPILS GIVEN AWARDS BY W.C.T.U.

Twenty Sixth Graders
Receive Medals for Winning Essays

Twenty sixth graders won medals and cash prizes in the preliminaries to the W. C. T. U. oratorical contest which has just concluded with the awarding of gold medals and cash prizes to three who won in the finals.

The gold medal winners were Christine Hansen from Edison school, speaking on "The Full Flasks"; and John Wright and Sallie Watson of Jefferson school, the former talking on "Goblins," and the latter on "My Pa and Me."

Those receiving silver medals in the preliminary tourneys, held in the various schools, and their topics, were as follows:

That Octopus?
Mary Olive Tozier, "Shall They Go Free?"; and Kearney Lura, "Jeannie's Advice," both from Lowell school; Ellen Upchurch, "Keep Out That Octopus," and Betty Herrin, "Where There's a Will, There's a Way," both from McKinley.

Leonie Seebor, "At the Wheel," Jacqueline Munson, "A New Recruit," from Franklin school; Nora Garcia, "A Tiny Boy's Help," and Carmen Higvera, "The Way It Works," from Fremont school.

What Price Progress?
Beverly Hutton, "Two Bars of Corn," and Marvin Jones, "The Man of Tomorrow," from John Muir school; Lucy Lopes, "What Price Progress," and Venice Martin, "The Hero," from Roosevelt.

Mrs. Ora Hicks, local and county director of medical contest work for the W. C. T. U., supervised the contests and presided over the finals, which were held in Spurgeon school auditorium. Speeches were based on selections from prescribed books, and all contestants were sixth graders in the local schools.

School Convention Expense Approved

Convention expenses amounting to a total of $282.21 for school teachers and administrators who attended recent conventions in San Francisco and Sacramento were approved by the board of education last night.

Expenses for Business Manager George Newcom, Mrs. Edith Gilbert, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Marjorie Dudley and Miss Isabel Lindsay of the elementary schools, Mrs. Ora Hicks, local and county director of medical contest work for the W. C. T. U., and Calvin Flint of the junior college were approved.

Funeral of Mrs. Johnson Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Theodore Johnson, who died last week in New York City, will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors, followed by interment in Fairhaven mausoleum. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Thomas of 409 West Washington avenue, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Valley Analyzes War Danger in Connection With Review of New Books

Europe Today Featured In Talk

Lecturer Warns of Three Dangerous Spots for War

By BETTY GUILD

The spark that will set Europe aflame may kindle this spring or this summer, and if it does, it will be in one of three danger spots, according to a brilliant analysis with which Mrs. Jack Valley yesterday perorated her monthly review of outstanding literary contributions at the Santa Ana Valley Club.

"Barring complications in the present conflict in Spain," she said, "I would advise most earnestly that first we watch Czechoslovakia, second we watch Lithuania, and thirdly, Portugal. There is ample powder in each of these tiny but extremely significant countries to set off a world-shaking blast."

She explained her point with the declaration that Germany wants Czechoslovakia desperately and that that little country will resist to the bitter end; that Germany is carrying out a definite policy of placating every one of the Baltic states save Lithuania, against which it has a grudge of many years duration, and that should there be trouble between Russia and Germany, Lithuania would be "the Belgium of such a conflict; and finally that Portugal, influenced as it is by the Spanish revolution, turning renegade on its alliance with Great Britain which is the oldest standing one in the world today, dating from 1373, and lastly, possessing the African colonies which Germany covets, is in the most acute danger.

Her summary had been prefaced by a discussion of what she termed "four completely important books."

Walter Mills, author of "Viewed With Alarm" cited as being the most brilliant commentator in the political world today.

Must Grasp Feeling "His thesis," she declared, "that to have any grasp of world politics we must know how it feels to be a European today, is masterly. By the time we have gone with him, literally, from Paris to Moscow (a distance and terrain comparable to that between New York and North Dakota) we can at last comprehend the staggering disintegration of Europe. The enormous amount of red tape, the immense variation in standards of business, living, and culture, all contribute to a picture that shows us something is bound to happen."

"The End of Socialism in Russia," a very short book by Max Eastman, is the most original point of view on Russia that she has yet encountered. It is the more impressive because he has made a complete about-face in the last several years, and from being "wildly enthusiastic" over the socialist regime, he is now "dreadfully discouraged."

Mrs. Valley attributes this change of fronts in Eastman to the parallel circumstance in Russia which he relates. Russia has veered sharply from the freedom, the broadness, the tolerance with which Lenin started the new deal. Under Stalin it has completely turned in its tracks. Individualism is fought bitterly. Regimentation is the order of the day.

"It is a disillusioned, but a most convincingly accurate picture," she concluded.

Why the Will of Empire "The Will of Empire" is the most important, most informative of the series of auto-biographies that have been turned out in recent years by foreign correspondents, she declared. Comparing it to Farson's "Way of a Transgressor," Duranti's "I Write as I Please," and all the several others, she believes it to be unquestionably superior.

"He has a polished, dramatic style that is entirely fascinating," she said. "His pageant of the funeral of Edward VII, his most tremendous description of the flurry of war mobilization in Europe in 1913, and of the Battle of the Marne, are without parallel.

"He turns a searchlight of inquiry into present affairs by relating an interview with Col. E. M. House in 1911. At that time, Williams considered the interview easily less important than one of the same date with Andrew Carnegie. In it, he told how Col. House had declared he was 'first gunshoeing around Europe' and then returned to the United States recommending immense increases in army appropriations and expenditures.

May Happen Again "Now Williams, in thinking back on it, wonders," Mrs. Valley said. "He remarks that once again, this past summer, Col. House was in Europe for many months, just 'gunshoeing around.' It sounds like this might be the spring or summer, if one is to learn by experience."

Williams' lengthy and vivid analysis of the dangers of war and peace censorship and of the League of Nations wind up with the declaration that the United States and Roosevelt must act as guide to the world. We must not be just too proud to fight, we must be too tough to fight—and without that assurance, it will be the "dusk of empire."

Her fourth selection of important books was "We or They," by Hamilton Fish Armstrong. It is a summary of the differences in autocracies and democracies, in art, morals, sports, history, standards of all sorts, and in reading it, she declared, "one sees that it must be we, or they. Both cannot survive."

Your Baby Book

By BETTY COX

Our Baby Book population has been growing by such leaps and bounds that we didn't even realize it had passed the 100-mark until we counted noses today and found we already numbered 120 little people.

So we are really in a new century now, as far as numbers go, and still growing. When, and if, we reach 500, we'll have to celebrate.

This week, we took time off to go visiting, and called on a very charming, dark-eyed little miss, Joan Louise Lutz, two-year-old daughter of the John Lutz, jr., who live in an attractive new house on Freeman avenue.

Among her proudest possessions are her dolls and a little toy rabbit, and right now she's awfully fond of a beautiful doll buggy which her cousin, Karen Ann Kokk of Villa Park, has loaned her for awhile.

Joan is a pretty little brunette with big, dark eyes and dark brown hair, and she has on a cute, red dress and sweater and two little red hairbows when we called. Red is one of her favorite colors, with pink a close second, her new Easter outfit being a pink knit coat and cap like the blue one shown by the tiny models in Junior Ebell's recent style show.

Joan has the loveliest garden to play in, and she loves the flowers. Her only pet is a canary whom she calls "Dickie," and who eats "ga" (grass) and "deeds" (seeds).

On her second birthday, which was March 24, she was hostess at a tea party for some of her very littlest friends and their mothers and other relatives and best acquaintances.

Among those joining in the celebration with Joan were Ronnie Crookshank and his mother, Mrs. Ronald Crookshank; Larry and Linda Lutz, with their mother, Mrs. Howard Lutz; Karen Ann, her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Kokk; Margaret Kay Graham and her mother, Mrs. Robert Graham; Mrs. Susie Bryant and Mrs. John Lutz, sr.; Joan's grandmothers, Mrs. W. Kolthoff of Orange and Mrs. Myron Dungan of Anaheim; her two aunts, Miss Harriet Whelan, an "adopted aunt," and Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, a close neighbor.

When Joan was very little, she couldn't pronounce the letter "m," so she called her mommy "Boby." Then when she did learn to sound her "m's" she steered clear of current biographies. Joan Haslip's "Parade" which adds immeasurably to the background of the play and forthcoming picture; the "Memoirs of a Spanish Princess" by The Infanta Eulalia, which she thought most entertaining and an illuminating and different picture of the courts of Europe; Isabel's "This Life I've Loved," which is an intertwining of the author's own brilliant life and that of her illustrious step-father, Robert Louis Stevenson; and an amusing little book of the trials and tribulations of being an editor's wife, "As I Live and Breathe" by Willis Snow Etridge.

Her novels she treated briefly and summarily with the exception of James Hilton's "We Are Not Alone." Its sensitive and delicate beauty, and its pathos and note of wonderment were to her a universal yardstick.

She could not but admire John Steinbeck, who has been acclaimed as the greatest literary find of the decade, but she detested his "Mice and Men" which is creating such a furor. Zona Gale's "Light Woman" and Ramona Herdman's "The Day Is Forever" were entertaining, good but not very important. And Somerset Maugham's "Theater" is the most outstanding novel of many months, and the most devastating description of a woman she has ever encountered.

50-50 Wives, Husbands In Parties

While their husbands were tagging it at the Irving Wardman home in Downey and making plans for a formal dinner dance on the eighth of May in the Mayfair hotel, Los Angeles, the wives of the 50-50 club had their own party over in Whittier in the attractive new Monterey home of Mrs. Jack Tuma.

The evening's bridge games resulted in awarding of prizes to Mrs. Buddy Forster, high, and Mrs. Everett Lutz, second, and a delicious supper was then served at the small tables.

Among those gathering for the delightful evening was Mrs. Harry Lytle, who came over recently from Germany for a visit with her parents, the Tom McFaddens of Anaheim. She and Mr. Lytle, who were members of 50-50 club, were made honorary members before their departure about a year ago for Germany, where the latter is with the General Petroleum company. When they left last year they were made honorary members of the dancing club.

Among those present to welcome the returned Orange countess were the Mesdames R. Anderson, E. F. Bruning, LeRoy Burns, Buddy Forster, Don Grafton, Riley Huber, Ewald Lenke, Everett Lutz, Bus McCoy, Lawrence Mitchell, Bill Queale, Irving Wardman, Hume West, the Misses Florence Diller and Lee Fernandez and the hostess.

QUIET WEDDING RITES SUNDAY

Wearing a spring frock of an orchid shade with white accessories, and attended by Mrs. Harry Weekly, who wore yellow with white, Miss Roxie Reese became the bride of Howard Everson Sunday evening in a quiet ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weekly in Santa Ana Gardens.

The Rev. Mr. Earl Coates of the Baptist church of Santa Ana Gardens read the rites, at which the Weeklys and Mrs. Coates were the only witnesses, and after the ceremony ice cream and cake were served.

The couple are making their home at 826 Lacy street in Santa Ana, the bridegroom being employed as driver for the Tree-sweet company here. The new Mrs. Everson, who has been in the employ of the Arrow laundry, received her schooling in La Habra, and Mr. Everson attended local schools.

rapidly, something his dad and mother hadn't realized, seeing him every day as they do.

Jeanne and Joanne Ellwanger, those bright-eyed, dimple-cheeked twins of the Jack W. Ellwangers of Riverside drive, have been mighty busy little girls these last few days, and just full of surprises for Mother and Dad.

Among the surprises for Mother were flowers, which brought when later much consternation, when she discovered that her two small daughters had been going from house to house asking for flowers "for my mother."

And yesterday morning, when we called, they were busy washing, hunting for their old doll clothes and scrubbing them to beat the band. Just who'll do the ironing isn't quite decided yet, but Mother says the twins will have to do it.

In the midst of all their busy-ness yesterday, they took time off to decide on their future careers.

Hearing their mother and dad calling to get someone to stay with the twins last night while they went to the show, they decided that when they grow up they'll get two husbands, and then serve out as nurse girls, taking care of other little children while their parents go to shows. Then they'll bring the money back to Dad and Mother, and Dad won't have to work and they can go to shows all they want.

One of our biggest little boys is Cabell Finch, 4-year-old son of the Braden Finches of Panorama Heights, who wears size-seven clothes.

Cabby's hobby is trains—big ones, little ones, and medium-sized ones. He spends hours drawing trains, and when Daddy comes home he gets Daddy to draw him more trains, until it's time to go to bed and dream about trains.

In spite of these leanings toward art, however, Cabby finds much time to spend out-of-doors, hiking around the wide open spaces around his home, accompanied by his dog, Tony, and his little chihuahua, Teentzie.

Cabby has black hair and big, dreamy, black eyes. His birthday is the tenth of February.

And the third little miss in a row to be "lucky, and bonny, and wise, and gay" is Miss Susanna Williams, seven and a half pound wisp born a week ago Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Hal Williams of Tustin. Her mother was formerly Miss Caroline Ferrey of Tustin, daughter of the W. I. Ferreys, and little Susanna is the first grandchild on either her mother's or her father's side of the family.

She has gorgeous dark red hair (from Grandpa Ferrey) and a decided dimple in the center of her chin, and of course, blue eyes. She's very jealous, furthermore, of the week's lead that Miss Julie and her dog playing in the yard, and she gets a lot of laughs out of his antics and the faces he made while having his picture taken.

Jimmy and his parents visited Grandma in San Diego last weekend, and Grandma noticed that he is growing into a big boy very

Delegates to Conclaves Named

Because the rest of April will be dark on the calendar of Ebell as a unit, two sets of delegates were elected at yesterday's session.

Mrs. F. C. Rowland, president of the club, first called for nine delegates and alternates to the state convention of federated women's clubs to be held at Coronado May 11-14. One voting delegate for every 50 members is allowed.

Those named to attend officially were the Mesdames R. C. Hoiles, J. E. Paul, S. W. Stanley, F. P. Jayne, R. P. Yeagie, Joan Cloyes, W. S. Thomson, D. D. Waynick and T. E. Stephenson. Serving as alternates will be the Mesdames R. C. Smedley, E. D. White, W. D. Ranney, F. E. Farnsworth, F. P. Niskey, Sam Nau, John Ball, J. E. Liebig and Susan Rutherford.

The second election called for 17 delegates and alternates to the Orange county annual convention scheduled for April 29 at Huntington Beach, at which one voting delegate is allowed for every 25 members. Those named to attend in official capacity were the Mesdames W. A. Moore, Hugh J. Lowe, W. S. Anderson, Cool Adams, Harvey Gardner, A. M. Cox, Lynn Crawford, R. G. Tuthill, Mark Lacy, Sam Preble, E. B. Sprague, Charles Drullit, W. S. Thomson, A. J. Cruickshank, Egbert Hull, Dr. Marguerite Baker, and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Thirty alternates will be the Mesdames Arthur May, Clarence Gustlin, Earl Morrow, C. V. Davis, Paul Bailey, R. C. Smedley, Stanley Reinhaus, Roy Shafer, H. T. Dunning, S. B. Kaufman, W. B. Halls, F. C. Rowland, Hugh Plumb, Miss Clara Richards, Miss Lula Minter and Miss Preble Drake.

FAMILY GATHERS TO HONOR TWO BIRTHDAYS

Birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Theodore Nelson and Maurice Birt were celebrated Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Nelson entertained at a squash dinner and family reunion in their home on Dyer road. Places at the pretty table were marked for the Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Davis, C. Hensley, Herbert Birt, Messrs. Ralph Nelson, John and Maurice Birt, Miss Lucille Stoker, all of Santa Ana; Miss Sylvia Combs of Los Angeles; and the host and hostess.

In the afternoon, others dropped in to share in the birthday cake and coffee served by the hosts, these guests including Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson of La Mirada, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Mead of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. William Emerson of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Park. Everett Speckard of Santa Ana, and Almen Nelson, who returned from a week-end in Lancaster in time to participate in the celebration. Another son, Harry Nelson, was in Riverside Sunday and unable to attend.

DINNER MARKS BIRTHDAY

Birthday anniversary of R. W. Bales, which was April 12, was the incentive for a family dinner Sunday in his home on West Camille, his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson, joining the family group for the celebration. J. Steele rounded out the circle.

The Southwest section of the First Presbyterian church ladies' aid will meet Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. E. L. Morrison, 116 South Birch street. Members are requested to bring labels, and a dime-growing contest will be started.

MARY STODDARD

"To Stay Married Takes Intelligence; Any Fool Can Get a Divorce!"

By MARY STODDARD

Older wives are interested in the problem of the young bride, mother of a small boy, who asked for divorce last week. She had married at the age of 17 against her parents' wishes. Now she begins to want fun and freedom, and since he doesn't dance or want to play, she thinks maybe she should simply end the whole unhappy affair and go on out and have a good time. From time to time I will print the answers that have been pouring in to her, because so far they have been exceptionally thoughtful and interesting. Here is one today:

Dear Miss Stoddard: May I say a few words to "M. R." whose letter appeared in your paper recently?

First, let me say her problems are not based so much on early marriage, but in ignorance of what marriage means, and this is the thing to change, if anything is to be done about the increasing unrest among married couples. She says she "loved" her husband. Youth needs to understand that the urge to taste of the tree of life is a natural thing. There is something attractive about this man for whom she sacrificed her girlhood, which is not a career stage, for youth is never alert for the one who will complete the riddle of life for them.

Added to this, the struggle for a position in the sea of wage-earners, with the later fear that the career may rob one of their birthright to home, mate and family.

This girl-wife needs help to adjust herself to the circumstances in which she finds herself, to select the worthwhile things she has at hand, and from them, build her home. It will not help her to get out of this marriage. She would only go into another and make another wreck. She needs to "learn to drive, instead of a new car" to put her problem in modern terminology.

Why not dance to the radio in her own home? The true pleasure in dancing is the rhythmic movements of all muscles of the body, which stimulate circulation and improve all body functions. It is necessary to have a partner, not fine clothes or a crowd. Perhaps the husband might be coaxed to dance in his own home. How about a little party of the girl friends and their beaux? These little home parties are so enjoyable. Of course she "loves her husband." She is merely cooking up a sour, bitter mess, in even thinking about it. Men do not err so much this way as women. When they marry a girl "that settles it." They feel they have proved their love by tying themselves into a matrimonial knot.

A man she loves, a home, a baby, friends who visit her, why the girl has everything a woman ever gets out of marriage. All she needs is to know the truth, and also realize that it is true that "life is what we make it."

I wish I might tell her husband that it is up to him to keep the love and trust this girl gave to him when she gave up girlhood to be his wife. The most foolish men are the "jealous" ones. The truth is that these men have suspicious minds. Jealousy is to the human heart what a big stinking weed is in a vegetable garden and a sensible man will tear it out by roots and not allow it to grow. As has been said in this column many times before, "Happiness is a state of mind." We cultivate it as we do flowers and to own a little patch is better than looking over into some other yard.

Why is the husband always away? Day and night she says she is alone. The first thing to do is to capture hubby, make him happy to be where she is. He can help take care of baby or whatever he needs doing. Her present line of thinking is all wrong. No good can grow in it.

At 24 I stood just where "M. R." sits today. A friend sent me two clippings which helped me greatly. I will pass them along. "Any fool

BOUDOIR SHOWER FOR MAY DAY BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Eula Belle Smith and her mother, Mrs. M. L. Smith, were cohostesses Saturday evening at a boudoir shower honoring Miss Virginia Lee Harper of Orange, entertaining at the Smith home, 140 North Harwood street. Miss Harper will be married May 1 to Raymond G. Trevor of Santa Ana.

A green and white color scheme was used in all the appointments, and prizes in bridge were awarded Mrs. Harry Gullede of Riverside, and Miss Mildred Rohrs of Orange.

Other guests were Miss Jeanne Levey, Santa Barbara; Mrs. George S. Harper, mother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. Glan Feldner, Miss Evelyn Richardson, Miss Marjorie McCall, Mrs. Jack Feather, Orange; Mrs. Frances Hall, Mrs. Merrill Bauer, Miss Winifred Ball, Miss Natalie Neff and Miss Zara Sargent, Santa Ana.

THREE ANNIVERSARIES CELEBRATED

When Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allemen of 521 Parton street entertained Mr. and Mrs. John George Miller of Venice over the past week-end, they were celebrating three anniversaries.

A foursome dinner party at Danigers Saturday night marked the April 7 and April 8 wedding anniversaries, respectively, of the Allemens and the Millers and also the April 12 birthday anniversary of Mr. Allemen.

The two men in the group were college friends at the New Mexico State university.

can get a divorce. It takes intelligence to stay married." "God is love. He created all things, so to worry is to deny thy Maker's power over all things." Twenty years ago I stood up by making a home with just what "M. R." has and nearly every wife begins with these same things if we could know the truth. Life is always a struggle. The worthwhile things gained are all that count. We need a court of human understanding to aid youth. This is the way to cure divorce. Each of us older ones can serve those who bring to us their problems. Love is treating others as we want them to treat us, and surely home is the place to begin loving.

Sincerely, HOME-BUILDER.

Dinner Club At Timmons Home

White cherokee roses from her own garden were chosen by Mrs. Howard Timmons last night when she and Mr. Timmons entertained members of their dinner bridge club at their home on Red Hill, Tustin.

The lovely flowers were arranged in a bowl of turquoise blue for the center of the long dining room table at which the hosts seated their eleven guests, and more of the same blooms were used in decorating the other rooms.

No guests were invited to substitute for the two absent couples, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Warner and Miss Lee, and Mrs. James Irvine, the rest of the membership making up just three tables of contract during the evening following dinner.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the Timmons home were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hoiles, Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. West, Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Landis, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler, and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon.

TALENTED PAIR PRESENTED IN RECITAL

Two talented young Santa Ana girls, Miss Harriet Spicer and Miss Phyllis Krock, both pupils of the Miami Philharmonic, were presented in a beautifully played recital Sunday afternoon in the Ebell clubhouse, where 50 friends assembled to hear their excellent interpretations of the works of the great composers.

Assisted by Margaret Jaberg, violin pupil of Elwood Bear, who played several lovely violin solos with accompaniment by Margaret Davies, the two young artists played the following program:

Two gavottes by Bach, "Toccata," by Paradies; Sonata, G Minor, Beethoven; "Warum?" by Schumann; "The Flatterer," by Chopin.

"Bourree," by Bach; "Sonata," by Beethoven; "The Mountain," by Brainerd; "Venetienne," by Godard; and "Scherzo," by Chopin. Miss Jaberg's numbers were "Andante" from "Symphonie Espagnole," by S. Lalo, and "Czardas," by Jackman.

The two recital artists are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spicer of 1923 Greenleaf street and Mr. and Mrs. George Krock of 1139 West Fourth street.

BEAUCEANT TO BE HOSTESS

Among the affairs of the week planned for benefit as well as pleasure is a dessert bridge to be staged by the Social Order of the Beauceant tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Masonic temple, with contract and auction bridge as the diversions.

Prizes are to be awarded at the close of the playing, and a dessert course will precede the games. Hostesses are to be the Mesdames W. Patterson, Emma Wassum and Elton Rehme.

GUY WALLACE NEW VILLAIN IN 'DRUMS'

Lawrence Finds Enemy In Don Lee Serial At 8 Tonight

If a man has backbone and courage, he is certain to make enemies.

Philip Lawrence finds a new enemy besetting his path in the current episode of "Drums," on KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system tonight at 8 o'clock.

And exceptionally violent he is, too, Guy Wallace, and he is destined to give the elder Lawrence many an unhealthy moment before the present sequence of the mystery-adventure serials is concluded.

Modulations From KVOE

CONSOLE, KEYBOARD

The happily blended music of organ and piano is offered in the novel "Console and Keyboard" program on KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system from 6:15 to 6:30 tonight.

GERARD SPEAKS

From the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York, listeners will hear the voice of James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and Special Ambassador to the forthcoming coronation of George VI. Herbert Bayard Swowe, one-time executive editor of "The World," and Colonel Jacob Rupert, of the United States Army, will be in connection with the luncheon of the United Brewers Industrial foundation, will be broadcast by KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system from 10:15 to 10:30 tomorrow morning.

BILL LEWIS

When Bill Lewis' romantic young baritone greets the coast-to-coast audience of the Mutual network at 11:45 tomorrow morning, he will be singing modern song favorites. Bill has selected "I'll Never Tell You I Love You," "Blue Hawaii," "My Little Buckaroo" and "You Showed Me the Way." As usual, Lewis will be accompanied by Gordon Fleming at the organ console.

Howard, Duey On Rubinoff Show

Shirley Howard and Phil Duey headline tonight's "Musical Moments" show on KVOE at 8:45, with Rubinoff and his violin, Rubinoff's orchestra, the Songsmiths quartet and Graham McNamee, via World Broadcasting company facilities.

Vibrant tenderness and haunting charm characterize the voice of Shirley Howard, who is headliner on the air at the RKO theater in New York. Phil Duey's rich, baritone voice is well known over two national networks with Russ Morgan's orchestra and is the baritone of the well known "Men About Town" trio.

Numbers will include "Make Believe Ballroom," "Summer Night," "Three Blind Mice," "You" and Rubinoff's featured solo: "You're Here, You're There."

Lowry's Show On National Net

When Ed Lowry's "Sing Time" makes its first transcontinental journey as a coast-to-coast feature of the Mutual Broadcasting system, the nation's listeners will hear the jovial, indomitable master-of-ceremonies in the amusing role of "efficiency expert" who has undertaken to modernize a large department store. This will provide one of the comedy sequences to be flanked by songs during the broadcast from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight on KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Case, Arthur On 'Romance' Show

Of course you remember the vocalizing of the delectable Evelyn Case and the baritone balladizing of Jack Arthur, formerly of the "Musical Moments" series! Well, they are only two of the reasons why "Romance in Rhythm," broadcast from KVOE and other stations in the nationwide network of the Mutual Broadcasting system, should be dialed and hearkened to by all and sundry who like their music sweet, hot and swingy.

Other reasons are The Embassy Trio, the Key Men and Nat Brunillo's orchestra.

Roosevelt Heard At 8 in Morning

President Roosevelt will be heard at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning through KVOE and Mutual when he speaks from the White House in observance of Pan-American day.

BROWN BROADCASTS

John Brown of the John Brown schools will broadcast Friday at 5:15 p. m. over the Mutual-Don Lee system. His Friday broadcasts are a regular feature. The talk will be heard over KVOE, Santa Ana station, and KHJ, Los Angeles.

TRAIN WRECK KILLS 6

MOSCOW, (AP)—Six persons were killed and 13 seriously injured, it was announced today, in a head-on collision of suburban trains on the Dzerzhinsky railway near Moscow yesterday afternoon.

The following programs are compiled from daily reports provided by stations. The Journal assumes no responsibility for errors caused by last-minute changes in schedules. Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system: N—National Broadcasting company; R—Records; O—Organ; H—Harp; T—To be announced.

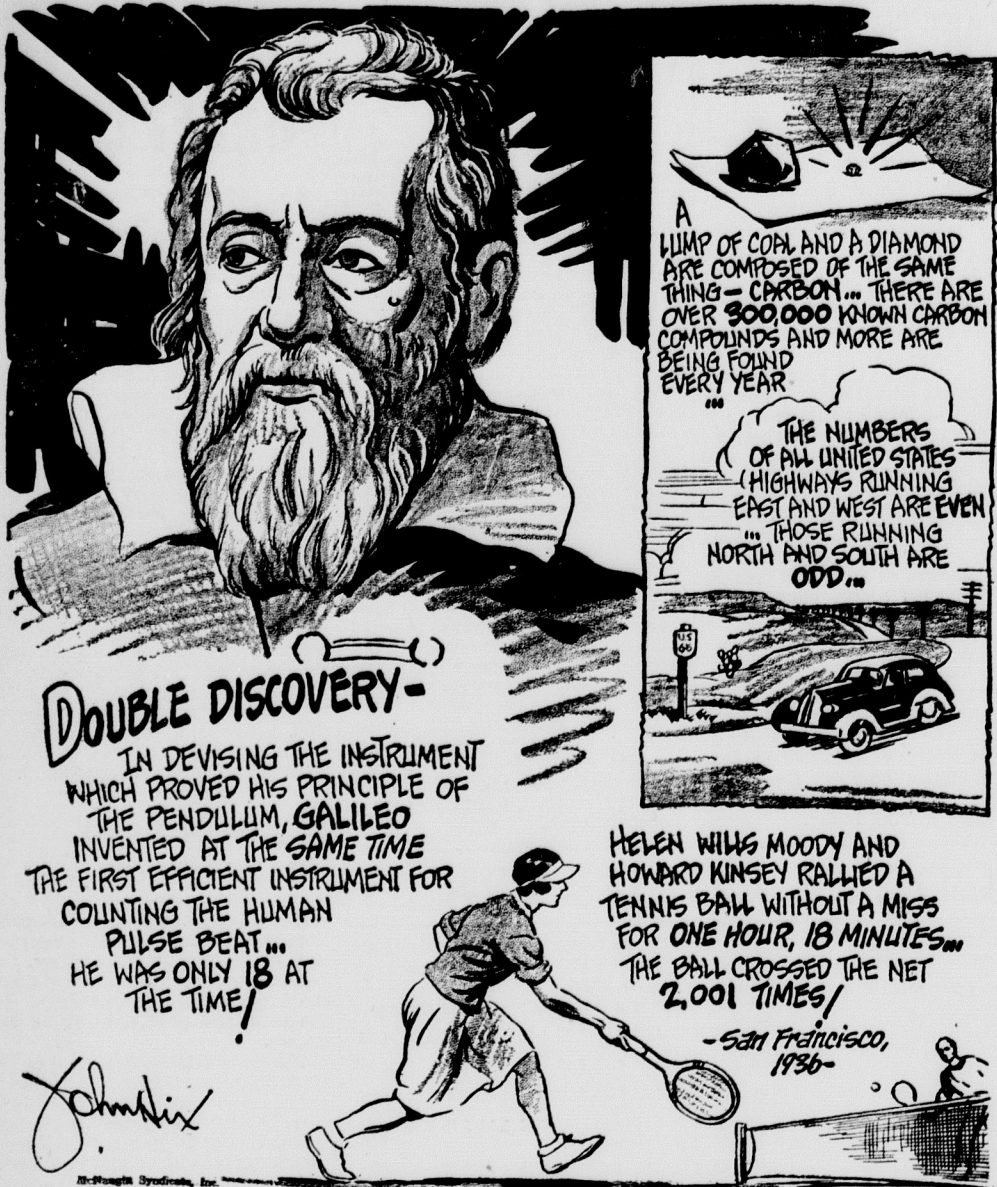

KVOE—1500 kilocycles; KFI, 640; KXN, 1050; KECA, 1330; KFL, 1230.

DOUBLE DISCOVERY...

With restless eyes wandering around the interior of Pisa's cathedral, an 18-year-old boy sat in attendance at divine service one day in 1581. The boy was Galileo Galilei—sent to Pisa by his father to study medicine.

He leaned his head back, studied the beams of the great structure's ceiling—then fastened his gaze on a lamp swinging back and forth. Idly he watched it for a while—became fascinated. It seemed to him that though the length of each swing of the lamp was gradually lessening, the time it took for each swing was not. The results strengthened his growing convictions.

After services he went to his living quarters and rigged up a pendulum attached to a dial which would set the pendulum swinging. The result was the discovery of the principle of the pendulum—the fact that regardless of the length of the arc which the pendulum made, it was invariably executed in equal time. Only a change in the length of the pendulum itself would produce variation.

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did you ever know a small boy who didn't like to draw mustaches on signboard ladies? EMMY G. Little Morris Fiddlefinger of Ballard prefers to the tin cans on cats' tails. That's also a hair-raising pastime. STUMP.

The Wagner Labor Act Decisions

A SMASHING victory for the union movement in the United States. That's how we interpret the supreme court decisions yesterday upholding the New Deal Wagner labor disputes act. Here's why—

The Wagner act:

1. Outlaws tactics of some employers to keep workers from organizing; this is done in the belief that denial of the right to bargain collectively stirs up industrial unrest and strikes.

2. Encourages the formation of unions; this is done with the thought that collective bargaining raises the general wage rate, increases mass purchasing power, decreases sweatshop labor and bans unfair trade practices when those practices are indulged in by employers.

Naturally, the court's decision is a shock to conservative interests. They had expected the act to be voided. And instead they find that New Deal labor legislation has been equipped with sharp teeth.

Administering the act is a quasi-judicial body known as the national labor relations board. In scope and power, this board is about on a par with the federal trade commission.

Its authority is limited to cases in interstate commerce where an employer is accused of hindering union organization or of discriminating against workers who join unions.

As far as stopping, mediating or arbitrating a strike is concerned, it is as powerless as a gun without bullets.

So don't expect the wave of sitdown strikes to die down.

If anything, look for them to increase as more and more workers realize that the employer who tries to stop unionization is now a criminal in the eyes of the supreme court.

Not every firm is affected by the national act. It applies only to concerns doing foreign or interstate business.

But it has become a much disputed question as to which companies do interstate business and which do not.

A lot more territory was taken into the interstate field by the decisions yesterday. They put steel, trailer and clothing manufacturers in that category. And there is no telling where the line finally will be drawn.

As for those organizations which don't rank interstate, they enjoy little immunity. They can be brought under control by similar legislation on the part of the states.

This very process is well under way in California. Last week the assembly approved the "little Wagner act." Now it's before the senate.

If it becomes law—and there is good reason to think it will—every employer in California may have to "talk union" when and where his employees dictate.

What effect will the Wagner act and similar legislation have on America?

Critics say it will fall far short of stopping labor disputes and that it will be harder to enforce than prohibition. Proponents claim it will usher in a new era of industrial peace and prosperity.

They are just guessing. And we'll risk a guess, too.

1. The spread of unions will bring unheard of political and financial power to labor leaders like John L. Lewis and may put a union boss in the White House before many years pass.

That's guesswork. But so is any other prediction about the outcome of the Wagner act and similar laws. It is pioneer legislation; and much remains to be learned about its effect on America's industrial and political structure.

Mr. Roosevelt said he wanted his court plan passed "Now," but it has only got as far as the opinions of Tom, Dick, Harry and a few other fellows.

Civil War? Not in U. S. A.!

THIS country is threatened by another civil war, according to Dr. Glenn Frank, former University of Wisconsin president, who warns an eastern chamber of commerce that, "this time it is a war of classes in which the national unity will disappear for a generation."

We fear that Dr. Frank's usual clear vision in national affairs has been distorted by his recent treatment at the hands of the La Follette political machine.

There is no doubt but that there are forces in America in conflict with each other, which would like to swing us either to dictatorship or communism, and thus destroy liberty.

But this does not mean that the situation is alarming, for it has existed since our country was founded, and it's a necessary part of any government in which a most precious factor is freedom of speech. Even in the days of George Washington, there were those who said he wanted to be king.

The fact that there are extreme rightists and leftists in a sense destroys the work of each, since each side is pulling against the other, allowing the great mass of sane, intelligent people to follow a normal course down the middle way.

Instead of trying to destroy the American form of government, the people are more alert than ever to preserve it, in our opinion. The widespread interest in the President's supreme court plan, and the fact that it has caused so much debate shows that the public is alive to the value of our form of government and will approve changes only after due deliberation and investigation shows that such changes won't endanger our time-tested way of life.

That doctor who drank seven quarts of orange juice daily reported "a considerable shift toward alkalinity." He probably sloshed, too.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Psychiatrists say every person has an avoidance complex. A dread of passing some building, block, area or scene in which one has experienced unhappiness. To visit such places after leaving them brings on a fit of what the darkey calls "the blues."

Billie Burke shrinks from visiting the great Tarrytown estate where she spent her honeymoon and so many happy years. Earl Carroll until recently never passed through the block upon which he built the theater bearing his name and which he subsequently lost.

My bete noir has always been the southwest corner of Broadway and Fulton street, now graced by an imposing building but once the site of the old Evening Mail. My first newspaper home in the metropolis, it was the only editorial shop I ever knew without glamour.

Others who worked there across from St. Paul's graveyard by the way—have told me of suffering similar qualms. Yet from the Evening Mail emerged many newspaper stars such as Grantland Rice, Ruben Goldberg, Ed Sullivan, F. P. A. and others. Stars out of the dusk!

Wall Street now has a walk-up town crowd. When the bell closes the stock exchange, bankers, brokers, customers' men and buyers, instead of bowing north in their trousers, "take it on the hoof." Oddly enough, a booming market has always increased enthusiasm for the art ambulant. In the months before the great crash hundreds were walking, but after the debacle returned to their cars. Too weak to walk, maybe!

Many high-powered executives uptown these days have their office shower into which they step after finishing a busy day. The first shower of this sort was installed by Winnie Sheehan at his film offices on Third avenue. There is the army of masseurs who call around 8 a. m. on the biggies in their hotel or apartment suites or private homes to give them brisk rubdowns.

The most tireless walker in town continues to be the stalwart Dr. John H. Finley, associate editor of the Times. He has been a walker all his life and his physical fitness is proof of the value of such simple exercise. He always heels off five miles every day, and he does the ordinary steps his duties require. And once a year he walks the entire distance around Manhattan island. John D., Jr., is a confirmed walker, ticking off several miles every late afternoon.

The beguiling business—save for the hopeless cripples whose plight is obvious—has come almost to a full stop in New York. I cannot remember encountering a moocher in the past two years, whereas before that time there were generally several to the block, especially after dark. Many causes contribute to the abandonment. The propaganda of charity societies that to give alms on the streets defeats their high aims is the biggest factor. Next, of course, are the known relief agencies and the general knowledge that no one is to go hungry in this country.

They were tolling off humorists who are no longer of this world at a literary luncheon the other day. Such as Ring Lardner, Kim Hubbard, Will Rogers, Renold Wolfe, Chic Sale, George Fitch, H. C. Witwer and several others whose names I did not jot down. Irvin Cobb and George Ade are the only ones left. Cobb is so busy with his radio and movie chores he doesn't write much any more and Ade can no longer be induced to turn in special stuff. There are a number of cynical funny men left but there is venom to their humor and usually at the expense of some innocent person or treated institution. And this is the sort of humor that will be little remembered by posterity. Magazine editors say that not in their memory was there such a demand as now for humor that brings the quick chuckle and without sting. Those who develop this form will have an instant and constant market. American magazines are turning to England for their lighter material.

Interlude with philosophy: They hopped off their taxi seats in the Biltmore cab line swinging viciously at each other. Then they circled about in slaver-mouthed glowing rage until one said something to the other that made them drop their defenses, and soon they were leaning against a post exchanging cigarette lights and friendly talk. "Then boys has more sense than a lot of people and most nations," said the corner cop. (Copyright, 1937.)

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Significant is the lesson learned by the President's brain trustees: "As we would be effective, so let yourself be scarce."

Brain trustees still exist today, but they have learned that the trail of headlines which followed in the wake of Professors Moley and Tugwell eventually brought their downfall. Today the brain trust is as anonymous as an undertaker.

The two most effective brain trustees are still Judge Sam Rosenman of the New York supreme court and Charles Taussig of the American Molasses company. Both come to Washington frequently, sit in on important conferences, are noiseless, self-effacing.

Sam Rosenman dined with the supreme court justices at the White House the night Roosevelt wrote his famous court message to congress. After the justices had left he went upstairs to help the President with the message.

Taussig has been an enigma to many outsiders. As a business man, his unselfish efforts in behalf of the New Deal are incomprehensible to his enemies. They suspect him of using information he gets on the inside.

But officials who work with him relate instances in which he has actually injured his own business by being scrupulous in avoiding New Deal support. Given a new deal by the Cuban government, which tied up his molasses, he discouraged state department intervention to secure its release.

Note — Taussig authored the New Deal's youth movement, played an important part in promoting stock exchange regulation, trade reciprocity and the Jones-Costigan sugar quota act.

RETIRED TUGWELL

Professor Rexford Guy Tugwell, retired brain trust, is now working for Taussig's molasses company, and is enjoying the advantages of being just an ordinary citizen.

Tugwell has taken several trips selling and buying molasses, has learned to distinguish between genuine and cheap molasses, and is by no means an expert taster.

Business men who deal with him never call him "Professor" or "Doctor." To them he is just plain "Mister Tugwell." Furthermore, they don't look upon him as a curiosity, as did the senators before whose committees he appeared. And they don't ask him for economic prognostications.

Tugwell says he certainly enjoys being just "Mister" again. (Note.—In Washington, Tugwell, a very flashy dresser, was called "The Valentino of the Revolution.")

TWO SHORT YEARS

What a difference just two short years can make!

Just about this season, in 1935, the late Huey P. Long was shaking the rafters of the senate with clamorous demands for an investigation of Postmaster General James A. Farley.

In June of this year the commencement orator at the University of Louisiana, Huey's pride and joy, will be Postmaster General James A. Farley.

SENATE REPORTING

Years ago, when proceedings in the senate were more decorous and dignified than now, the official reporters always remained at their tables just in front of the vice president's desk. Senators stood facing the presiding officer and directed their remarks directly to him.

Now senators turn their backs on the presiding officer and address their remarks to other senators or to the occupants of the galleries. Thus the official reporters have to change their positions constantly in order to hear what is being said.

The change in this practice came in 1889, when John J. Ingalls, then senator from Kansas, was president of the senate. During the summer in those days senators cooled themselves with palm leaf fans. That was before any kind of ceiling fan had been installed and before a cooling system, such as now in use in the senate chamber, had even been dreamed of.

One hot mid-summer afternoon Ingalls was presiding while Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, addressed the senate. The veteran senator, Theodore F. Shuey, who died a couple of years ago, was at the official reporters' table. Some senator sitting behind Senator Hoar rose and asked him a question.

Hoar, in violation of senate precedent, turned his back on the presiding officer and directed his answer to the senator behind him.

Reporter Shuey sprang to his feet, turned to Ingalls, exclaimed: "Mr. President! Mr. President! I cannot hear the senator from Massachusetts!"

Ingalls looked deliberately at Hoar, whom he did not like, and then back at Shuey. Waving his hand slowly, he said:

"Well, Shuey, it doesn't make a damned bit of difference!"

POINTED SUGGESTION

Members of the senate judiciary committee complained to Chairman Henry Ashurst that they could not hear each other during the meetings on the court bill.

The tall, witty Arizona eyed the vast marble chamber where the proceedings are taking place, then boomed:

"Yes, it is difficult to hear. You see, the architect who built this structure did a remarkable job in rendering the ordinary voice inaudible in this hall. The only thing I see for senators to do is to use the thing to which they most owe their election—their voices."

SCIENCE NEWS

A new airplane, which is completely tailless, has been tested at the Well-Chamberlain airport in Minneapolis. This airplane is said by experts to be superior to many of the more conventionally designed craft. In design, the craft is practically a flying wing, since the fuselage is only large enough to seat the pilot and house the engine. Steering is done by two small rudders, one being mounted on each wing tip.

Rules: (1) letters must not exceed about 200 words—longer ones will be edited; (2) writers must sign names and addresses—unsigned letters will be ignored; initials only or pen names will be used when requested; (3) confine each letter to ONE idea; if you have two ideas, write two letters; (4) letters must wait turn for publication; (5) discussion matters in the news, and therefore known to all readers, are preferred. Please cooperate by observing these rules. Thanks.—Editor.

SATURDAY NIGHT CLOSING

To the Editor: I am writing my opinion on the closing of three stores at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. It will surely injure things in my opinion. I am a farmer's wife living about 11 miles from Santa Ana. There are six working men at our place that work from 7 in the morning to 5 in the evening. Some of them have nine miles to drive before they reach home for their evening meal and to clean up a bit. Then they have to drive 11 miles.

How and when is a family like this going to do its shopping at stores which close at 6 o'clock on Saturdays?

We have the Irvine ranch and there is many a family situated like we are. I am not able to drive a car to town myself.

Why don't the merchants put on another shift if the hours are too long for clerks who work there all day?

MRS. ROBERT C. BARNES.

What Other Editors Say

PLENTY OF OPINIONS

(The San Francisco News)

Everybody taking part in this court squabble—which means everybody who isn't tongue-tied—will read Monday's decision, and each will draw his own moral therefrom.

Some will say that the decisions go to prove that the judges are just a bunch of politicians who blow with the wind. Others will say that the judges are still reading their personal predilections into the constitution. Some will say it proves the president should be permitted to add six of his own to the high bench. Other will say it demonstrates that the court is all right, and it can be trusted to correct itself.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By X REPORTER

Usually I'm three or four jumps behind my book-reading schedule, and 10 or 12 behind what probably ought to be my schedule.

The sad fact is that I make no pretense of keeping up with the high-gear book production world. And if that be treason, make the most of it.

I take some consolation from the fact that the book review magazines require a larger staff than that of a daily newspaper to keep pace with the continuous arrival of what might be called "the better books." Even the professional book reviewers do not try to winnow all the grain from the huge pile of always current chaff.

Consoling, too, is the frank confession of the most ardent bookworm I know, that as he passes the middle midget of life's journey he realizes that he has built a barrier of books between himself and real, actual, flesh-and-blood life.

I envy my friend his close acquaintance with authors ancient and authors modern, and the vast population of characters real and characters imaginary that they have created. But I would not
